NEWTON'S GRAND OLD MAN

Death of Mr. Warren P. Tyler At Age of 92 Years

Mr. Warren Parker Tyler, one of the oldest and best known residents of the city died Tuesday noon at his home on Sargent street, after an illness of less than a week.

Mr. Tyler was one of the most public spirited men in the city and not-

Parker Tyler and his mother Rebecca Tyler. He is a lineal descendant of Job Tyler, one of the original settlers of Andover. Mr. Tyler received his education in the public schools of Andover and Danvers, and then engaged in the business of woolen goods

THE LATE WARREN P. TYLER.

withstanding his great age, kept him young by keeping up his interest in public matters. He was one of the founders of the Newton Hospital, served as a trustee for 25 years and has been since 1906, the honored vice-president of that splendid institution. He was also a founder of the Newton cemetery corporation, and served as its incorporation in 1864 as a trustee, as president and as vice president. He was one of the incorporators of the Channing Religious Society and has been one of its deacons and a trustee since 1851, besides serving as chairman of its standing committee. His snow white beard and kindly smile, Mr. Tyler, was indeed "the grand old man of Newton."

Mr. Tyler was born at Andover, Mass., Feb. 17, 1821 and was therefore 92 years of age. His father was and clothing, as a member of the firm of Tyler and Studley of Boston, retiring about 30 years ago. He served in the Common Council of Newton in 1887 and for part of 1888 as a member of the board of aldermen. In addition to his deep interest in the Channing Church, the Newton Cemetery and the Newton Hospital, Mr. Tyler served for over fifty years as a trustee of the Children's Mission of Boston, being vice president for twenty years, and also served as a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank for 16 years, retiring in 1910.

Mr. Tyler married Miss Harriett A. Mulliken, a member of one of the old families of Lexington, and who died some years ago.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at his late home on Sargent street, Newton.

SOPHOMORES WIN

Girls of Newton High Schools Hold Interesting Meet

The class of 1915 was awarded the gymnastic meet last Friday afternoon at the High School gymnasium, held by the girls of the Newton High Schools. There was a good attendance of parents and friends of the girls who took part and the various events were closely contested and those taking part were liberally applauded.

The girls made a fine appearance when to the number of three hundred they filed into the gymnasium to the music of the piano, two by two, arranged by classes. They were dressed alike in white middie blouses and black bloomers and stockings, the classes being differentiated by the color of the ties, the seniors being blue, the juniors dark green, the sophomores red and the freshmen yellow. As soon as the girls had entered the building they were seated in Turkish fashion, while the events were run off. The first number included floor work by the various classes in order, the seniors with 19, the juniors with 53, the sophomores with 86 and the freshmen with over a hundred entries. Then followed exhibitions of hand travelling, rope climbing, ladder work, saddle oblique and parallel bar vaults and high standing at bar.

The excitement while the various games were run off was intense, particularly during the relay races, the various classes cheering and encouraging their entries in the most noisy fashion. The sophomores won the all up game, defeated the freshmen in the preliminary and the seniors in the final of the bean bag relay, while the seniors won the preliminary in the relay race from the juniors and defeated the freshmen in the final.

The last numbers included some fancy dancing, the freshmen in the Highland schottische and Spanish dance, the sophomores in the Dutch and Swedish dances, and the juniors and seniors in the May Rose and Moonlight Caprice. These dances were gracefully done and met with round after round of fully deserved applause. The Dutch and Swedish dances were given in costume, and which added greatly to the pleasure of the event.

Mr. Enoch C. Adams, the master of the school then announced the winners of the various events, his words being greeted with hearty cheers by the friends of the successful contestants, and when he awarded the meet to the sophomore class, the girls made Rome howl for several minutes. Second place was given the senior class.

The judges were Miss Shaw of the Brighton High School, Miss Wallace of Radcliffe College, Miss Bouve of East Boston and Miss Baxter of Longwood.

CUTTING WINS

Will Be Republican Candidate For Congress On April 15

Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston was nominated by the Republican party last Tuesday at the special primary called to select candidates for the Congressional election to be held on April 15th to select a successor to John W. Weeks whose recent election as United States senator from Massachusetts, caused him to resign as Congressman from the 13th district. Mr. Cutting received 1906 votes to 624 for Gleason. At the same primary, Hon. John J. Mitchell of Marlboro was named by the Democrats and Mr. Norman White of Brookline was selected as the candidate of the Progressive party. Both of these gentlemen were unopposed in their several parties.

Newton did its part in nominating Mr. Cutting giving him 536 votes out of the total of 1906 polled by him all over the district and casting 61 votes for Mayor J. H. Gleason of Marlboro. Mr. Cutting's opponent, A remarkably light vote was cast in the district, where 35,370 votes were cast for Congress last November. The Secretary of the Commonwealth provided 80,350 ballots for the primary, of which 35,550 were Republican, 26,300 were Democratic and 19,000 Progressive.

Newton experimented for the first time with regular election hours for a primary instead of the usual session from noon until 9 P. M. and several voters who did not realize the change in hours lost their votes in consequence.

632 Republican votes were cast, of which 13 were for Norman White and 1 for Mitchell. 66 Democratic votes were cast, Mitchell having all but one blank, and White received the full total of 5 cast by the Progressives.

The detailed vote for Cutting and Gleason was as follows:—

	Cutting	Gleason
Ward 1	43	3
2	102	11
3	62	7
4	31	7
5	86	16
6	114	8
7	98	9
	536	61

Arrangements have been made for an aggressive campaign in behalf of Mr. Cutting and meetings will be held in all the wards of Newton next week, with Senator Weeks heading a distinguished list of speakers. Tonight the Republican city committee will tender Mr. Cutting a dinner at the Newton Club and final arrangements made for a brisk and effective fight to ensure his election.

FIRE SCARE

Box 15 Sounded For Two Fires This Week

The home of Mr. P. A. Murray, 184 Washington street, Newton, was damaged to the extent of $4000, and Mrs. Murray was burnt about the arms, before the blaze which threatened to entirely destroy the house was extinguished Wednesday afternoon. The blaze originated on the second floor, when Mrs. Murray, while brushing clothes near the porch door, stepped on some matches which had fallen from a coat. The open door caused a draft and before Mrs. Murray was aware, her clothes had ignited and the flames had spread to the furniture in the room.

Her cries attracted the maid, Mary Purcell, who after extinguishing the flames on Mrs. Murray's clothes, ran to the street and told Mr. Theodore C. Walker, who resides next door to the blaze. Mr. Walker sounded an alarm from box 15 at the engine house, and the fire gave the firemen a stubborn battle. Mrs. Murray was removed to the home of her son, Mr. Joseph Murray, across the street, where she received medical attention. Her arms were badly burnt to the elbows.

The rooms on the rear of the house were gutted, the firemen being unable to get anything of much value from several of the rooms. All the wearing apparel in the closets on the second floor was consumed by the flames.

A brisk blaze in the clothing store of Henry Segel in the Nonantum Block gave the firemen a stiff battle and tied up car traffic for nearly an hour Tuesday morning. But for the nearness of Engine 1 station and the promptness of the firemen answering the alarm a fire that would destroy the block might have resulted.

The fire started shortly after 10 o'clock while Mr. Segel, the proprietor of the store was in Boston. His wife, who had been left in charge, was in the front part when a gust of flame shot from the rear room sending Mrs. Segel and her four-year-old son Samuel rapidly to the street. In her excitement Mrs. Segel instead of going to the engine house, ran to the store of Walter Mars to call the department. In the meantime John Cronin, proprietor of a restaurant in the block, sounded an alarm from box 15.

Clouds of smoke rushing upwards through the building sent the employees of the Stratton Press rushing to the street bringing such valuables as they could gather up in their hurry, while Dr. Fall quickly vacated his dentist apartments also located on the second floor.

The flames spread through the rear of the building burning through the walls into the plumbing shop of Charles M. Hewitt, which was scorched by the flames. Through the partitions the flames went to the unoccupied Bijou Theatre on the second floor at—

Central Church Burns Mortgage At An Interesting Service

Members of the Central Church, Newtonville held an interesting service last Sunday evening, when to the singing of the Doxology, the mortgage note which has been on the church property since its erection in 1895, was burned to ashes.

raised during the past two months by a thoro canvass of the parish by a committee consisting of Messrs. Charles W. Davidson, chairman, William H. Allen, Charles E. Bevan, Wallace C. Boyden, S. M. Crain, Edward W. Greene, Walter T. Kelley, Albert

CENTRAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, NEWTONVILLE.

The church was well filled with the members and their friends and the program included the reading of scriptures and prayer by Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D. D. of Newton Centre, a solo by Mrs. Fletcher, greetings from the churches by Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton, a report from the committee which had raised the money to cancel the mortgage, a response by Mr. Albert M. Lyon, moderator and the burning of the mortgage in the chancel by the three oldest members of the church, Messrs. Winfield S. Slocum, Edw. J. E. Stiles and Edward W. Greene.

Some idea of the task the church has completed can be gleaned from the fact that in October 1898 the mortgage was $43,000. In April 1907, it was $27,000 and that the last $7,100 was

M. Lyon, Hedley P. Patey, William Price, Joseph B. Robson and G. Lyman Snow.

The spirit of the meeting was well expressed by Rev. Mr. Park who said that only the tambourine of the Salvation Army could adequately indicate the feeling of the church over the cancellation of the heavy burden of debt. Mr. Park also made a plea for greater fellowship among the churches, saying that about the only time the people of the various parts of Newton met was across the lunch counter in Boston.

The pastor, Rev. J. T. Stocking, gave the following historical sketch of the church:

If a man knows a thing only as it is, he does not know it at all. That may sound profound but it is only in the least so. It is only saying that if one would know anything one must know something of its history. This is particularly true of any thing that grows, whether it be a carrot, a child or a church. To understand and appreciate it one must know its past. This happy occasion is a good time

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
LAND COURT.

To Henry, McLaughlin, Ludwig Schmitt and Thomas W. Mullin, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, Lawrence Tobin now or formerly of Indiana, in the State of Texas, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives; and to all whom it may concern.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Julia Z. Roberts, of said Newton, known as Newton Highlands, and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm her title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in that part of said Newton, known as Newton Highlands, lying on the south side of Centre Street, being lot No. 1 on a plan of house lots late of D. S. Farnham, drawn by E. A. W. Hammett, July and November 1886 and recorded with Middlesex South District Record Book 52 Page 42, said land is bounded on the west by lot numbered two on said plan 87.16 feet on the south by lot No. 6 19.35 feet, on the east by land now or formerly of Mullen 103.13 feet; on the north side by the south line of said Centre street about 75 feet; containing 5,998.3 square feet of land more or less according to the above survey.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-eighth day of April A. D. 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be granted with the right of said petitioner to be barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

In Witness, Charles Thorndike Davis, Registrar, Judge of said Court, this 3rd day of April in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen.

Attest With Seal of said Court.

MR. STACY DEAD

Mr. J. Albert Stacy, a former resident of West Newton, and a son of Postmaster and Mrs. Charles H. Stacy, died last Saturday at his home in Springfield, following a week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. Stacy was born in West Newton and was 36 years of age. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, six years of age. He was employed as an assistant district foreman of the Telephone Company with headquarters at Springfield.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of his father on Henshaw street, Rev. J. C. Jaynes officiating and the interment was at Newton cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. PLUMMER

Mrs. Ellen A. Plummer, widow of the late Albert Plummer, died Tuesday at her home on Lexington street, Auburndale, after an illness of less than a week, death being due to a shock which she sustained a few days previous. Although ill but a few days, Mrs. Plummer had never recovered from the shock of her husband's sudden death, which occurred on her birthday, March 11th.

Mrs. Plummer, who was in her 88th year, was born at West Newbury, Mass., but had lived in Auburndale for over 40 years. She was a member of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle and of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. She is survived by one son, Mr. Arthur Plummer.

Funeral services will take place from her late home this afternoon.

for us to get better acquainted with our church. A large proportion of this congregation has known it only in recent years. About half the present membership have been received during the last seven years. We think we understand something of its spirit but we shall know much more about it if we turn over the pages of its heroic past and learn the spirit of sacrifice and service of those days out of which these days have come.

This is not the time for any extended and adequate history of the church. If we shall celebrate our semi-centennial five years from now that will be the fit occasion for such a history. This evening I seek to sketch the history of the church only as it concerns its place of worship. I shall be obliged to leave out of view its spiritual growth, its benevolent work; I can mention only incidentally its pastors and speak of only a few of the good men and women who have composed it. We shall center our thoughts upon the material progress by which we find ourselves tonight in this beautiful building free from all encumbrance.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 11, 1867 a number of the residents of Newtonville, who were members of various Congregational churches, met by invitation at the residence of Mr. Nathaniel D. Vose for "The purpose of social prayer and conference." At this meeting another was appointed for the succeeding week. So it came about that there was instituted the weekly prayer meeting that has continued from that day to this. The numbers increased from fifteen at the first to thirty before the coming of spring. A moving spirit in these meetings was the Rev. Henry J. Patrick, of West Newton who was interested from the first in what he felt would be a growing enterprise. As the winter wore away into spring there was increasing interest in organizing a Congregational society here. The first item in the interesting records of the society reads as follows:

"In view of the success which has attended the establishing of a regular weekly prayer and conference meeting by members of various Congregational churches and societies in the village of Newtonville and vicinity, and believing that the institution of a Congregational society for religious purposes was demanded by the best interests of all concerned, several residents of the village met by invitation at the residence of Dr. D. W. Jones on the evening of Feb. 26, 1868. It had been the custom for several weeks for those more particularly interested, to remain after the close of the weekly prayer-meetings, for the purpose of consultation on the subject of the institution of such a society.

The prospects of success had in this way been fully discussed and the consideration had been reached that the only obstacle to immediate action was the want of a suitable place in which to convene for sabbath service and the object of the meeting on the evening above named was to determine if this obstacle could be removed.

The following named persons were present: N. B. Chamberlain, Jas. B. Pickett, Wm. A. Goodwin, Charles A. Browning, D. W. Jones, M. D. Vose, Geo. C. Littlefield, and Edward K. Wilson.

It was stated by Dr. Jones that the chapel at the corner of Washington and Court sts. (now Central ave.) had been offered for sale to him by its proprietors and the above named persons there and then agreed to purchase the estate and to transfer the same to the society when it should have been duly instituted."

By the 24th of March the purchase was completed and on that evening at the house of Mr. N. B. Chamberlain the eight men whose names have been mentioned met and duly organized the Central Congregational Society.

Some of you may have wondered why the red garage at the corner of Washington st. and Central ave. should have a tower. It may have suggested itself to you as quite a suitable thing in view of the many who today substitute garages for the church on Sunday. The mystery is solved. In that building almost thirty-two years ago to-night there was held a meeting, such as this, to rejoice in the payment of the debt that had been incurred in enlarging and beautifying the building. The chapel out of which grew our church in 1860 by Gov. William Claflin and Mr. Dustin Lancy and was hired to the Methodists as a place of worship till 1863, when they entered their present building. At the time our young society bought it the Dalhousie Lodge of Masons was occupying the second story and continued to do so for several years to come.

I can find no record of the sum that was paid for this first meeting house. Samuel F. Smith's "History of Newton" states that the original cost was $6500. The cost to the society must have been much less. On July 7, 1868 it was voted that the standing committee be given power to purchase the chapel and "to assume all notes and bills outstanding for same." There is no record at the first annual meeting of any indebtedness but at the second meeting April 1870 a considerable sum has been spent for interest. A mortgage had recently been given to cover building expenses for about $3,000. The standing committee at that meeting reports that the liabilities of the Society "are in two mortgages given to the Nantucket Institution for Savings amounting together to the sum of $4,500." Apparently, therefore, the little Society began life with a mortgage of about $1500. It was to the manner born.

The chapel was opened for service April 5, 1868, Rev. H. J. Patrick preaching the first sermon. On the 15th of June a call was extended to Rev. J. B. Clark of Yarmouth to become its first pastor. He accepted the call and on September 8, 1868, the Central Congregational Church was organized with 36 members, one of whom is now a member of the church.

At the first annual meeting April 1869 the treasurer reported a deficit of $237.00. At the very outset there was a financial problem. Those were days apparently when the church could say to its members "Do this, and he doeth it." For the record runs that "a committee of three, Messrs. Whittemore, Darling and Bridgman were appointed to raise it." In about six weeks it is reported that all had been raised but $3.00 and I jump to the conclusion that the $3.00 has since been raised.

The church had scarcely got settled in the little chapel when it discovered that the accommodations were inadequate. Nothing daunted by mortgage and deficit, the Society at once took up the matter of enlargement and at the very meeting at which it was reported that the deficit was raised it was voted to proceed to expend a sum not to exceed $5,000 "and to secure the same by mortgage or otherwise." There were apparently some sticklers for regularity of proceeding in those days for it took three meetings to satisfy at least one member that all had been done with due regard to law and order. The building enlarged by the addition to the length of fifteen feet. At the next annual meeting, as we have seen, there were two mortgages aggregating $4,500.

But a mortgage seemed to act only as a spur: for at the next meeting there was much serious talk of a new structure and a committee was appointed to get the price of suitable sites, and another to estimate the cost of building. A month later June 1872 we find this highly interesting record. "Voted that the Pastor be appointed a Committee to raise the $10,000 called for by the report of the Committee on church accommodation and that he be excused from his duties in the pulpit during the time required for the purpose." Some ministers would not be above the suspicion that this was a clever device to get rid of their preaching ministrations for quite a period of time. The succinct record at a meeting of the Society two weeks later makes us wonder just what the text of Mr. Clark's reply was: "Dr. Jones read the report of Rev. J. B. Clark who had been appointed a committee to raise the $10,000 for the new church building. The report was accepted and the committee discharged." A committee of three was selected apparently with full power and instructions "To secure and contract for a lot and to raise money to pay for it."

It was perhaps due to the financial depression of that time that nothing further was done in the way of securing a lot or of building. It was to be twenty years before they really should break ground.

The interest on the mortgage was causing the Society a deficit every year and a committee was appointed annually to clear this up. In 1873 I find that the committee was Messrs. Geo. C. Littlefield and W. S. Slocum. Yet this did not seem to trouble the Society to the extent of discouraging it. For in 1875 it voted to enlarge the church by the addition of two transepts at a cost of $2,500. But the history of building cost repeats itself and when the work was completed the cost of building and the necessary furnishing was $6,600. At a meeting in April 1876, the Building Committee was discharged, the society voted to assume the liabilities not reported, a committee of three gentlemen and three ladies was appointed "to liquidate the bills of the society," which were a mortgage of $9,500 at 7 per cent and a floating debt of $1,500. The meeting closed we are told by singing "I need thee every hour." I hope it is not irrelevant to point out the exquisite appropriateness of this hymn for the occasion.

The burden of the debt which kept growing for a time was greatly felt. These were days that tried the spirit of the struggling church, days of great devotion and sacrifice. But the church did not flinch or retrench. The man who wrote the report of the Standing Committee in 1878 calls attention to the fact that at the beginning of the year the debt had been $12,000 besides a floating debt of $2,600 which he says they had begun to fear "would forever float in a sea of trouble making the latter a stagnant pool detestable to sight and smell of all standing committees of this society for future ages." It cannot be said that he wrote without feeling. But he continues to say that during the year by an almost spontaneous uprising of the people the entire debt had been pledged. The uprising had been greatly assisted by the new pastor, Rev. E. Frank Howe, who the committee says had borne the greater share of the burden of raising the money, and who they feel had been almost providentially sent to them. In his report as Treasurer two years later Mr. E. E. Stiles speaks of the colossal sacrifices "freely made" and reflects the strain of those years for all when he adds "I trust we shall never again be called upon to make such a struggle for freedom"; and yet he says that he believes the habits of generous giving formed in those days have fitted the members of the church for more effective Christian work. The history of the church has borne out the truth of that reflection and those who were schooled in giving in those brave days have never failed the church in the days that have followed. From many of them we have gathered inspiration.

By the spring of 1881 the debt was entirely paid and the service of celebration was held to which allusion has already been made. The pastor under whose leadership the task was accomplished resigned two years later to accept a call to Peoria, Ill., and was succeeded by Rev. Frank W. Gonsaulus of Columbus. His brilliant preaching attracted a congregation from far and near, the building was overcrowded and again there was talk of a new edifice. The ladies were already at work establishing a fund that could be used for such a purpose. The standing committee with commendable foresight voted in 1884 to increase Mr. Gonsaulus' salary by $500.00, but he declined to accept the increase in a letter a portion of which I will read. The entire letter is interesting to those who are interested in seeing Dr. Gonsaulus in the making: The letter runs in part:

"After earnest prayer and thought, I have been more certain than before that I cannot accept this increase of allowance and must conscientiously decline it. The grateful memory of this exceeding kindness I shall not try to record. It is an act on the part of the Society which is simply the consummate fruit of a spirit which has already in countless private ways ministered to myself and family since I came among you. Yet because I have received so much I must not allow myself to continue being 'ministered unto' but must 'minister'."

"Several reasons have made this declination a clear duty. And the first and chief is the demand which is beginning to assume quite irresistible power for a new house of worship. Your work as a people of God is increasing, my work as your teacher is quite limited by the building we are occupying. Our Sunday School ought at this moment to have rooms for classes which might give to teacher and pupil an opportunity which is now denied them. Our public congregation is so divided that it is all I can do to restrain the unity every man ought to feel in addressing them. Never have I labored in such difficulties in speaking and in no church that I know of is there such a bad arrangement for the mass of hearers for hearing and speaking. We cannot be blind to the fact that our city is growing rapidly that our congregation is increasing and that we are now nearly full. Our duty lies in preparing for our next great work—the building of a new church. It is not the hour, it may not be for years to come, to begin the work. But it is the hour to begin to pay for it. The ladies of the church have already a sum equal to this increase for some such purpose. Add to it the $500 offered to me and we have a fair beginning, a beginning which by faith and self-sacrifice may be increased each year until the sum itself will be of some great service. In the face of the fact that I have given my life to the church and that I am under a vow to spend and save only a certain sum annually, whatever my salary, I cannot avoid the feeling that the best way to serve God in this is to decline it and if as I am assured the income of the church will be five hundred more this year to rejoice at the end of my second year with you in the fact that the church has a sum already secured for a new building and that so long as it seems best for us to work together we can add to our ability to perform a very pressing duty. A man receiving $3,500 in a church where his work is interfered with and where the congregation and above all the Sunday School are already crowding its desirable seats when he can live on three thousand and be comfortable is a being I do not care to become." Mr. Gonsaulus also desires the feeling that he himself has made sacrifices in order that he may appeal with more power to the people to make sacrifices for mission work in the great West.

On the date when this letter was read, April 21, 1884 the fund for the new church was established. Then began systematic planning for the great and enticing achievement. Boxes were put into the vestibule for free will offerings; a committee was appointed to devise and suggest ways and means, among whom were Mr. D. C. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bridgman, Mrs. Joseph Willey, Mrs. Frank W. Gaffield, Mrs. Austin G. Sherman. This committee recommended annual subscriptions, pew envelopes, lectures, a young people's aid society. A committee was appointed to suggest to members of the Sunday School ways in which they could secure and save money and to hold in their entertainments. In 1888 the fund had grown so far that a committee was appointed to see what subscriptions could be secured in case the building should be of wood and what in case it should be of brick. The committee reported that they had obtained pledges to the amount of $9,000. That the hour was not yet ripe, one sees in their report that "some had declined to contribute, some had objected to building upon the present lot, others were not ready." Yet the church moves on in faith-believing. In 1889 Mr. N. Henry Chadwick reports that the committee had purchased the lots on which the church now stands for $14,000. A mortgage was put upon the property for $6,000 which was discharged within three years.

In June, 1892, a committee of 25 was appointed to consider plans for a new church building, report upon the same with regard to plans, cost and method of raising the necessary funds. That committee was Rev. John M. Dutton, Messrs. W. F. Slocum, E. W. Greene, E. E. Stiles, A. G. Sherman, N. H. Chadwick, A. W. Cole, J. B. Taylor, H. R. Thompson, C. E. Roberts, A. J. Gordon, W. S. Slocum, Z. D. Kelley, G. F. Churchill, A. C. Judkins, P. C. Bridgman, F. S. Rollins, D. E. Baker, Wm. Hollings, C. S. Crain, J. H. Willey, H. A. Boynton, D. C. Heath, Wm. Price, H. R. Gibbs.

Six months later the special committee on plans was made the permanent building committee: Rev. J. M. Dutton, Messrs. Austin G. Sherman, N. Henry Chadwick, Alfred W. Cole, Amos C. Judkins, Winfield S. Slocum. At the beginning of 1893 the special committee on funds reported that the amount of cash receipts, written pledges, and definite verbal promises were $22,705.60, and a horse. Just how much they had in sight at this time depends on what kind of a horse this was. $23,000 would not be far out of the way as an estimated amount on hand when the church committed itself to this enterprise, the estimated cost of which was $73,000. I stand amazed at the daring of the Society, at their faith in themselves and the future.

The task that confronted them and their Finance Committee, Messrs. Wm. Hollings, G. W. Greene, E. E. Stiles, G. W. Auryansen and H. R. Gibbs, was colossal.

Ground was broken for the new structure in June, 1893. Through the failure of a contractor, work was suspended in the fall, but resumed in the spring of 1894. The cornerstone was laid June 9, 1894, by Mr. William F. Slocum, then Senior Deacon. On May 28, 1895, the building was dedicated, Dr. Gonsaulus preaching the sermon, and Dr. Patrick offering the dedicatory prayer.

This building stands as a monument to high faith and noble endeavor. It is not possible to single out a few and say that we owe the church to their efforts. The very souls of many men and women are in these walls. But it is easy and proper for us to recognize the arduous and efficient labors of the pastor during these years of preparation and building, Rev. John M. Dutton, whose picture hangs on the walls of the reception room, and whose name is inscribed on our beautiful bell, the generous gift of Mr. F. C. Perry.

Mr. Dutton was unsparing of himself. His soul was in this enterprise. We should gratefully reflect that to him more than to any other pastor of the church, more, I think, than to any one else, we owe this building. Into it he put more of himself.

In one of the church manuals is found this fine tribute to two men: "The gratitude of the people is especially due to Deacon Austin G. Sherman, Chairman of the Building Committee, and Rev. John M. Dutton, Pastor, to whose wise planning and untiring watchfulness is due in large measure the success of the enterprise."

When the church was dedicated the debt was $37,000, a sum that continued to grow month by month as the floating debt increased. It must not be supposed that the church was indifferent to this. The Chairman of the Building Fund reports in 1897, "The burden of the new church debt is still with us and unless we put our shoulders to the wheel and commence to reduce it some time, the next generation may have some hard feelings about our much-talked-of 'Yankee thrift.' Still the flood of debt rose until high water mark was reached in October, 1898, when the church secured the second of two mortgages, making the total of $43,000. Yet the spirit of this church could not be broken. What can you do to discourage a church if, with mortgages aggregating $43,000, causing interest of over $2,000 a year, with only $600 on hand, a standing committee reports as the committee of this church reported at the beginning of 1899 "our financial outlook for 1899 is, at least, fairly satisfactory." That is a wonderful sentence; in its historical setting I consider it should be ranked with Scripture, as an inspiration to faith and an illustration of sublime trust in Unseen Powers.

But the trust was linked with works. The church did put its shoulders to the wheel; the Ladies' Fund Committee under took to pay off at least $1,000 a year on the principal and the men to pay the interest. The ladies usually exceeded this sum. They paid in all $25,000, of which $9,500 applied on the mortgage. A special Easter offering in 1893 in the pastorate of Dr. Davis netted the handsome sum of $4,000.

In the spring of 1907 the mortgage stood at $27,000. For several months there had been a growing feeling that for the good of the church an effort should be made to reduce the debt more rapidly. Under the leadership of the finance committee, W. H. Allen, Chairman, C. R. Lynde, A. P. Felton, C. E. Bevan and E. H. Cram a group of men were called together to see what could be done. At the end of one evening's discussion, Mr. D. C. Heath arose, proposed a scheme of pledging so much a year for five years, and himself made a pledge of $1,000. The others followed and the movement was on its feet. It was decided that the pastor should make an appeal at an early date at a morning service to be devoted to the object. April 7 was set apart for this purpose. The day was not fair and the congregation was small. But at the end of the service about $25,000 had been pledged of the $30,000 called for to pay principal and interest. These pledges matured last May.

It was easily seen a year and a half ago that we could not complete the achievement in the five years and the date, "Easter, 1913," was named as the time at which we should strive to be free. The rest of the story is familiar to you. A special appeal last spring netted $3,000 in pledges. A little more than a month ago the committee of twelve, Messrs. Charles W. Davidson, Chairman, W. H. Allen, C. E. Bevan, W. C. Boyden, S. M. Crain, E. M. Greene, W. T. Kelley, A. M. Lyon, H. P. Patey, William Price, J. B. Robson, G. Lyman Snow, was named at a meeting of the men of the church to see what could be done toward wiping out the debt. It is safe to say that no committee ever was wiser or more faithful and efficient. We cannot pay them too high a tribute. When they began their campaign the mortgage stood at $7,100. Last Sunday the committee reported the church was absolutely free from encumbrance, for the first time in twenty years. There is abundant reason for our rejoicing. The interest ceases from troubling and the mortgage is at rest, or soon will be.

My sketch is complete and I trust the picture is clear,—the picture of a courageous, progressive, persistent, red-blooded church, a church which nothing has ever yet been able to discourage, a church which never yet has ceased to have some big object before it. The church has never been so heavily burdened that it has not wanted to do something more. Even in these last seven years when we have been making this splendid effort we have trebled our benevolent gifts and greatly increased our home expenses.

The best thing about this church is its forward look. It has not had a long past but it has always had a long future. We should not be true to our past to these brave people who have gone before if we did not have the same forward look. They did what they did, that the church might increase in effectiveness. We have in our time done what we have done that we may increase our efficiency. Our recognition of the past is in entertaining noble plans for the future even at this time of rejoicing.

There rises before me at this time the enchanting picture of a well equipped parish house on the lot to the south of us, containing additional Sunday School rooms, better facilities for clubs and social purposes, rooms for reading and for games, a good library, a bowling alley, a sufficient athletic equipment, in short, a house dedicated to the many-aided needs of men, women and children that we may minister more widely and efficiently to our community. Three good dates come to my mind: 1918 marks our fiftieth anniversary, 1919 sounds well, and is easy to remember; 1920 would celebrate the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers. In the meantime we may acquire the property, when we get money enough, and to get that money we should start soon. And even before that we should, with the consent of the owner, adorn the lot that we may contribute to the beauty of the city and give an illustration of the church at work in community improvement.

We pause to recognize the heroic men and women who have given us so great a heritage of faith and works, those who are living with us and those who have gone before into the larger life. We here dedicate ourselves to the unfinished work to which they give their last full measure of devotion,—the work of ministering to this community in fullest measure.

Rev. Mr. Stocking, the pastor then read congratulatory letters from the following former pastors, Rev. Jos. E. Clark, Rev. James R. Danforth, Rev. Frank W. Gonsaulus, Dr. D., Rev. Pleasant Hunter and Rev. Osora S. Davis, D. D.

Mr. Charles W. Davidson, chairman of the committee said that Central Church has always achieved what it has undertaken and that the committee had not only received enough to pay off the mortgage but would be able to install a new system of heating in the church. Of the 436 subscribers to the mortgage fund, Mr. Davidson stated that 426 had paid their subscriptions. In conclusion Mr. Davidson said:—

"This committee has been greatly impressed by the fine feeling of unity and harmony prevailing throughout the entire parish. We conclude this is the spirit of God at work here, and we know God always works through human messengers. One of the human messengers is the man who for seven years has moved in and out among this people, keeping his finger upon almost every detail of church life, interesting the children in his own inimitable way, giving himself to the boys and girls and young people in their various organizations, holding the men and women with a grip that is ever increasing, always wise in speech, always settling those delicate questions which arise in every church with his quiet diplomacy, always striking the best and highest note in the pulpit and that note is higher still than it was seven years ago, and always, everywhere, and under all circumstances, the same, dignified, Christian gentleman—this is the man whom we are proud to call our Pastor.

This committee has been impressed with the fact that we have another minister who also has been here seven years, whose work has been more in private than in public, who has met unusual responsibilities in the home with peculiar strength and patience, whose words have been few but always spoken at the right time and to the right individual, and whose gentle spirit has permeated this parish like some gentle ray of light—this is the one whom we delight to know as our other minister.

This committee never could have been so easily successful had it not been for the work and influence these seven years of Mr. and Mrs. Stocking."

In accepting the mortgage note from Mr. Davidson, Mr. A. M. Lyon expressed the hearty thanks of the church for the excellent work of the committee and as he handed it to Mr. Slocum, said that while it was sad to part with old friends, there was some satisfaction in knowing that its life work was well rounded out and completed.

After the benediction, the congregation was invited to spend a social hour in the church parlors where light refreshments were served under the direction of the Ladies' Fund Committee, consisting of Mrs. E. S. Nagle, president, Mrs. S. J. Spear, Mrs. A. E. Vose, Mrs. J. T. Stocking, Mrs. W. T. Kelley, Mrs. W. E. Strong, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins, Mrs. W. H. Allen, Mrs. Chas. R. Lynde, Mrs. A. H. Decatur, Mrs. N. H. Chadwick, Mrs. E. C. Wyatt and Mrs. Fred E. Mann.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will have a Guest Day on April 12, at the home of Mrs. H. W. Drew of Dedham street.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Everett Starr Jones, president of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, gave a delightful talk, descriptive of her recent trip through Italy at the last meeting of the club on March 28th. Her talk was supplemented by a group of songs charmingly rendered by Miss Priscilla Price and piano solos by Miss Maude Carr. A social hour followed, Mrs. George St. Amant, chairman of the afternoon, serving dainty refreshments in the tea room. She was assisted by Mrs. George W. Marsh, Mrs. Chester E. Pratt, Mrs. Francis E. Nowers, Mrs. E. F. Robinson and Mrs. George McNear.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club met with one of its honorary members, Mrs. A. L. Pratt, on March 29. Mrs. Pratt was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Sweetser and Mrs. Pratt, Jr. The work for the afternoon was the study of Acts three and four of "Timon of Athens" under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Studley, who had the play well in hand and her questions brought forth lively discussion. Mrs. E. J. Smith classified this play as being written during a rest period in Shakespeare's mental activity; Mrs. Pratt gave an interesting explanation of the requirements of a play to make it dramatizable, quoting from the best modern authorities on the drama. Mrs. W. E. Moore gave references from the text to queer customs and current opinion which in light of present day seem strange. Mrs. W. M. Mick gave a fine characterization of Timon, the hero of the play, placing him as a type of man that falls into adversity through his prosperity, his character being common to all times and places. He was mad in his generosity and mad in his antipathies, he was liberal without bounds and became illiberal without bounds, his generosity was his own tragedy.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Monday Club of Newton Highlands is a literary club, on Monday last the words, "We may live without friends, we may live without books, but civilized man cannot live without cooks," might well be applied, because the club enjoyed a most appetizing luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Bowen on Chester street. The members were seated at small tables tastefully decorated with yellow, the club color. A profusion of spring flowers made the air sweet, as in a different way did the graphophone kindly loaned by the R. H. White Co. After the luncheon Mrs. F. S. Fairchild accompanied by Mrs. W. S. B. Robbins, rendered a group of songs, "Springtime," "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "If I but knew." Toasts were responded to by Mrs. H. E. Williams, Mrs. C. D. Miller, Mrs. S. L. Eaton, Mrs. H. A. Miller, and Mrs. M. M. Griswold. After which Mrs. Eleanor H. Porter, author of "Miss Billy," "Polly Anna," and several books of a most helpful, pure and humorous nature, read four of her shorter stories, "A Summons Home," "The Polly of Wisdom," "Angelus," "That Angel Boy."

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. observed one of its "Special Days" at the home of Miss Marion Morse. In spite of the inclement weather a large number of ladies were present and enjoyed in imagination the trip to California with Mrs. Fred R. Miller, who told most entertainingly of her travels and showed many beautiful pictures. Miss Anna Thompson recited an original poem expressing the pleasure of the club at having Mrs. Miller with them once more, and thanking her for her contribution to the afternoon's entertainment.

Several musical selections, both vocal and instrumental were rendered by Miss Miller of Newton Highlands. Following this a short, amusing play entitled, "When Women Vote," was given by Mrs. Logan, Miss Morse, Mrs. Sweetser, and Mrs. Rogers and made a very humorous ending to a very enjoyable afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild considered themselves most fortunate on Tuesday when in the event of the speaker for that afternoon being unable to come, their president, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, stepped into the breach and entertained them most delightfully with her lecture-recital on "The Sea Islanders," illustrated by negro songs with violin accompaniment. This lecture-recital Mrs. Palmer has been giving in many places this winter, having given it at Brookline on Monday and at Winthrop on Friday. The program committee knowing this fact prevailed upon Mrs. Palmer to give it to her club friends, which she gladly did. At the close the club presented Mrs. Palmer with a bunch of pink roses and tendered her an informal reception. Mrs. Anna L. Bailey spoke briefly of the work of the General Federation.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting. After the routine reports the club voted to re-arrange its number of committees, the social service committee being divided into several, which correspond in name to some of the departments of the State Federation. A letter was read from the recipient of the Hampton Scholarship and acknowledgements were received from the gifts of the club to the Newton Hospital and to the Nonantum Day Nursery Association.

The Pierian Club observed Gentlemen's Night on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mills. The program included monologues and recitations and songs by Mrs. Edith C. Cooper and was much enjoyed by all present.

MARTIN COMPANY DANCE

A large sum to be used for the sufferers in the recent tornado and flood in the Middle West, was realized from the fifth annual dance under the auspices of the employees of the Martin Manufacturing Company of West Newton last Tuesday evening in Maynard Hall, Waltham. During the past the sum realized from the annual dance was devoted to the expenses of the annual outing at some summer resort, but when the call came for funds to relieve the sufferers of the West, the employees unanimously voted to contribute the proceeds.

The floor was under the direction of the Misses May Burke, Elizabeth Murphy, Alice Cullen, Katherine Foley, Mary Harkins, Alice Scott, Anna Burke, Minnie Lill and Margaret Kelley.

For the benefit of the "Electa Walton Scholarship Fund" of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club, a very successful bridge and whist party was held at the residence of Mrs. George D. Byfield, on Wednesday, April 2. The hostesses were Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, Mrs. Robert Gorton, Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell, and Mrs. George D. Byfield. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, and Mrs. Harry Wells for highest scores in auction, to Mrs. H. C. Burdison and Miss Smith for highest bridge scores, and to Mrs. Susan Diamond and Mrs. Emma Diamond for highest scores in whist. A social hour followed a very pleasant afternoon.

The Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Thursday, April 3, at the home of Mrs. Edwin Drowne, 32 Lakewood road, Newton Highlands. A brief parliamentary drill was given by Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, Mrs. Elizabeth Hewes Tilton of Boston who is leading the Publicity Campaign against intemperance in Boston, spoke briefly regarding extending the campaign to the suburbs and Newton. Mr. Frank W. Chase, Principal of the Bigelow School, then spoke on "The Conservation of our Children." Refreshments and a social hour followed.

HARVARD MUSICAL CLUBS TO GIVE CONCERT IN NEWTONVILLE

The present season has been one of exceptional opportunities in a musical way for the people of Newton. At the Newton Club and at Players Hall soloists of such national reputation as Madame Evelyn Scotney and Mr. and Mrs. David Mannes have delighted local audiences. And now comes the announcement of a concert by one of the best known musical organizations in the country, the combined Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs of Harvard University. The members of these, to the number of sixty, are to appear at the parlors of the Newtonville New Church Society next Tuesday evening, and it is safe to say that no one who is interested in male chorus singing, or who enjoys the exhilarating strains of the banjo and mandolin, can afford to be absent on that occasion.

Special interest attaches to the concert from the fact that it is the first to be given in the Newtonville by this body in more than a college generation, and also from the fact that this year's leader of the clubs is a Newton man, Mr. Albert Pickernell, for some time tenor soloist at Grace Church, Newton. Those who have heard the clubs in concerts given elsewhere say that Mr. Pickernell's leadership has been most successful, and that an even better program than usual may be expected.

The concert is being given under the auspices of the Young People's League of the New Church Society, which will be the beneficiary of any profits which may accrue.

NEWTON EQUAL FRANCHISE ASSOCIATION

Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., of West Newton, opened her house on the afternoon of March 31 for a very successful and enjoyable meeting of the Newton Equal Franchise Association. Mrs. Marion Booth Kelly of the State Association spoke on Equal Suffrage, and questions were asked and answered. Mrs. Gertrude Halladay Leonard of Chestnut Hill gave a talk on the legislative work done this year. Some 20 members were added to the membership roll. Mrs. Garrison is to open her house again on the evening of Tuesday, April 15 for an evening meeting, when Mr. George H. Ellis of Newton is to speak on "Why I do not favor Woman Suffrage." Maud Wood Park will also speak.

Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., was elected president for the coming year.

MASONIC EXEMPLIFICATION

There was an exemplification of the three degrees in Free Masonry by the nine lodges comprising the 6th district last Saturday afternoon and evening. Right Worshipful Emory B. Gibbs, DDGM, presided in the Masonic apartments, with Frederic L. Putnam, GL, having the general direction.

About 200 members of the craft were present. Of the past masters there was a good attendance including Monitor Lodge, Lauman N. Hall, Frank O. Lock, Robert B. Johnson, William Shakespeare and Charles N. Brodick; Bethesda, Fred A. Norcross; Pequossette, A. F. Haines and John A. Bridges; Dalhouse, John W. Fisher; Bethoron, David H. Delano and Milton F. Reynolds; Isaac Parker, George Hopkins; Belmont, Charles H. Houlahan and Irving B. Frost; Norfolk, Edward A. Mills, Emory Grover, Edgar H. Bowers and George A. Adams.

Worshipful Master Benjamin E. Wood of Aberdour and Worshipful Master Frederick W. Klemm of Washington were guests.

Those who filled the first three stations in the lodges and took part in the exemplification were:

Bethesda of Brighton—James Young, Jr., WM; Irving G. Findlay, SW; George E. Brock, JW.
Monitor of Waltham—Charles J. Shepard, WM; Louis A. Phillips, SW; Fred L. Tebbels, JW.

Pequossette of Watertown—Guy H. Nason, WM; George H. Dale, SW; Harry Edmonds, JW.

Dalhousie of Newtonville—Fred M. Blanchard (SW), acting WM; Edward C. Wyatt (PM), acting SW; Allan C. Cody, JW.

Newton High School girls basketball team was the winner in the annual game against the Alumnae played last Saturday morning in the High School Gym, the final score being 25 to 19. The team was close throated out, the High School girls displaying the best form, while the Alumnae lacked practice and team work. Miss Flanders officiated.

The lineup of the teams was as follows: High School—Katherine Flanders rf, Emily Proctor cf, Marion Vindenstein lf, Helen Ames jc, Margaret Merrill c, Anne Gray lb, Bertha Burbeck rs, Helen Smith lg, Louisa Adams cg; Alumnae—Emily Clapp cf, Alice Shumway rf, Dorothy Wellington lf, Alice West jc, Irene Browne rc, Winifred Adams lc, Elizabeth Leavins rg, Edna Stuart cg and Mary Robbins lb.

A very successful entertainment for the benefit of the "Dynamo" of the High School was presented last Friday evening in the High School Hall. The play "A Scheme that Failed" was admirably presented by the young people, including Miss Mary Hardegon, Miss Edythe Ward, Wendell Garlelon, Hugh Boyd and Miss May Halloran. Following the play dancing was enjoyed in the Drill Hall.

CITY HALL

A civil service examination for police and janitor service of Newton will be held next Friday at Ford Hall, Boston, in connection with similar examinations for other municipalities in the Metropolitan district.

A public hearing will be held next Monday evening by the board of aldermen on the question of granting sixth class liquor licenses and permits to transport intoxicating liquors for the ensuing year. The license committee gave hearings to the interested parties last evening and will continue the same tonight.

Agent Alfred M. Russell spent a few days last week at Falmouth.

At the session of the Registrars of Voters held last Friday at City Hall, 24 new names were added to the voting list. The board will hold another session previous to the special election in this Congressional district on April 11 from 8.30 A. M. to 10 P. M. at City Hall.

POLICE NOTES

Sergeant Kite and patrolmen Sartwell, McKenzie and A. M. Fuller raided the premises at 12 River avenue, Upper Falls Monday afternoon and seized eight gallons of ale and two gallons of beer. The premises are occupied by Joseph O. Paul. The raid followed the appearance in court Monday morning of Giovanni Angiolino of the same street on the charge of the illegal sale of liquor. Angiolino was found guilty by Judge Kennedy and ordered to pay a fine of $50 which he did.

A ball game between boys averaging about 12 years of age was interrupted Sunday morning on Rockland street by the appearance of patrolman Monroe, the boys making a hasty retreat, leaving their ball and bat behind. The goods are now at headquarters awaiting the owner.

The police motor cycle was placed into commission for the summer last Sunday by Chief Mitchell. Patrolman J. J. Sartwell was again placed on the job of watching the speeding autolists and other violators of the automobile laws of this city. Chief Mitchell also placed officers on the leading crossways on the city for the protection of pedestrians.

An April fool joke, although worked a little early, was played on the department Monday morning, when in response to a telephone call from a resident of Thompsonville, Chief Mitchell and two officers took to the Thompsonville woods in search of a dead man. They finally came upon the man, and were just about to make an examination when he awoke and became real peeved on being awakened. He was arrested on the charge of drunkenness, although he made a great effort to convince the officers and chief that he had not touched a drop of liquor for three months.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—Charles Case, known the country over as "The man who talks about his father," returns to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week after an absence of nearly two years. There are few vaudeville patrons who have not laughed at Case and his funny stories about his father. The wonderful Thomas A. Edison Kinetophone or Talking Motion Pictures will enter upon their seventh week of uninterrupted success with brand-new subjects. Another big feature will be Gertrude Vanderbilt, late feature of "The Red Widow," and George Moore, will appear in a series of up-to-date songs and dances, and Gallagher and Fields, America's greatest travesty artists, in a brand new farce comedy; the Great Dalvis Family of European acrobatic marvels, including the only lady undertaker in the world; in startling feats of strength and agility; The Bradshaws in a novel specialty; Charles Ravenscroft, the singing violinist; and many others yet to be announced. Week of April 14th, "Peter," the wonderful Chimpanzee.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—"Here is no acting but life itself," said a noted critic in his expression of the Irish Players, who on next Monday begin the third and second last week of their engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. Since the first American performances of this organization of players last year, the fame of their achievements in this country has become a matter of household knowledge. These players, unlike the American actors, ignore all stage traditions with amazing and effective impression. They thrill you from the moment the curtain rises. The realistic climaxes of every performance stamp a vivid and indelible picture upon your mind. They present the most grippingly human effects the American stage has ever offered and carry you with them in their strikingly faithful interpretations.

SYMPHONY HALL—"The last of the series of popular Sunday afternoon concerts in Symphony Hall will be given next week Sunday afternoon, April 6th at half past three. With the intention of bringing a brilliant series to a brilliant end arrangements have been made that the famous Handel and Handel Society of Boston should give a performance of Haydn's oratorio "The Creation" one of the most popular works of its class. The entire chorus of four hundred will be employed with Emil Mollenhauer as the conductor. There will also be a full orchestra. The tenor will be Evan Williams, one of the greatest oratorio singers in the world. The soprano will be Caroline Hudson-Alexander, who has recently come to the front as a concert singer in this country. The basso will be Frederic Martin, one of the best basses in oratorio work in this country.

OPPOSE DRUGGISTS' LICENSES

Strong Protest Against 6th Class Licenses Made By Representative Citizens

City Hall was filled to overflowing Monday evening, when the aldermen gave a public hearing on the matter of granting sixth class liquor licenses and liquor transportation permits for the ensuing year.

Over 250 representative citizens, and new ladies, were present, and many stood in the gallery and corridors. Alderman Blakemore was in the chair and Alderman Hatch, who is ill, was only member absent.

Alderman Thomas Weston, Jr., opening the hearing for the opposition, said a year ago a large body of citizens came and protested strongly against the granting of Sixth Class Licenses in this city, and to fight another large body of citizens came to enter the same protest. Great many of these men, he said, tried to speak and had a good deal to say, but only a few would be called on and they would speak briefly and to the point.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes, the first speaker, said: "We meet here to-night on common ground, citizens of no party, in which we all take a just pride, whose good name is dear to us, in whose welfare we are deeply interested. If we disagree as to method, it is only that we differ in judgment as to the shortest and best road to attain the end we all have in view. Those whom I represent desire to test against the continuance of the system of granting sixth-class or druggist licenses to sell intoxicating liquors. And we do so for these reasons:—

Because this system, just so far as it is sold as a beverage, defies and nullifies the no-license vote of the city. The six years, 1906 to 1912 inclusive, the average vote against license was 71 per cent of those going to the polls. Yet the 22 druggists sold in 1912, 6409 gallons of liquor, more than 10 times as much as in 1906, and 7,710 gallons, an increase of 1311 gallons, or 20 per cent. Nobody has the hardihood to claim that all this is for "medicinal, mechanical, or chemical purposes" as the law requires. It was bought to be drunk as a beverage. To that degree the vote is annulled. We don't believe that means that liquor must not be sold as an adjunct to a hotel, shall not be sold on the side in cigar-stores, in rooms, or in social and athletic houses; but it may be sold, in limited amount, as an adjunct of the business, on the payment of one dollar for a license, and the condition that the purchaser sign a statement that it was bought "for medicinal, mechanical, or chemical purposes."

In many questions which come before this honorable body the people do not express an opinion. They have confidence in your judgment and action. Your expert knowledge is much more than their unskilled knowledge. But on certain broad and vital matters of public policy they repeatedly expressed their opinion. This matter on the sale of intoxicating liquors in Newton is preeminently one on which they have spoken in uncertain tones. They expect to be a no-license community. We presume to instruct you as to duty to your constituents; but we respectfully ask you to consider whether this is not one of those questions in which you act in a representative capacity, to put into effect in legislation the clearly expressed will of the people of the city. This has been repeatedly expressed in other ways than at the polls; in mass-meetings, in the action of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and by petitions largely signed. While there has been no popular vote on the matter, we are convinced that we represent the large majority of the citizens in this protest.

2 This system is a school of hypocrisy and a training in perjury. The Boston Licensing Board annually protests against the granting of sixth-class licenses and calls them a "direct encouragement of hypocrisy." The regular customer signs the book and takes the bottle. He has stated that he wanted the whiskey for "medicinal, mechanical, or chemical purposes." He knows that he is lying. The druggist knows that he is lying. We all know that he is lying. As a teacher of morals I protest against the maintenance of such a school of perjury. It is demoralizing to the community. I want to protest for the sake of the druggists. So far as I know, all our druggists are reputable men. Some of them are friends of mine. What protection does an honest man have under such a law? He cannot tell his customer that he is a liar. He loses his legitimate trade, if he offends those who want to buy liquor. He is placed in a position of great difficulty, and exposed to an unfair temptation. I don't want any fellow citizen and friend of mine put into such mortal peril of his immortal soul. No man can sell whiskey, and sell it illegally, and not degenerate under the process.

I wish to call attention, in passing, to the defect of the present law, in that it is so easily evaded. Who is to tell, as he looks on, whether there was any ink on the pen that signed the book, or not? If the customer pockets his bottle, and walks out without signing, who is to call him or the druggist to account? I am making no accusations against anybody. I am simply calling attention to the undeniable fact that the law may be very easily evaded, and that there are few safeguards to its enforcement. And it is noticeable that in some cases there have been remarkable variations in the recorded sales, according with the strictness of the watch kept on the salesman. But even if the law is enforced as well as the druggist may reasonably be expected to do so, it is still a school of lying. We cannot afford to lower the moral tone and cultivate contempt for law and indifference to truth. I am sometimes amazed at the indifference or jocular tolerance with which this notorious lying is regarded.

3 In the third place, we protest in the name of our children. People move to Newton for the sake of their children. They want to rear them where there are no saloons, and as few reminders of the evil in the world as possible. But in the same drug-store where the boys and girls gather to buy candy and ice-cream soda,

ALFRED L. CUTTING OF WESTON

You Should Vote for Him BECAUSE

He is qualified to represent the district. He will look after the people and industries of the district. His election will be a protest against the proposed Tariff. A vote cast for the Third Party candidate will aid the Democratic nominee. He will win if you will attend the polls and cast your vote for him. He is the nominee of the Republican party.

ELECTION TUESDAY NEXT

BENJAMIN L. YOUNG, Concord Rd., Weston

The managers of baseball teams are urged to send their schedules to the office of the Supt. of Playgrounds, City Hall, West Newton, as early as possible. There is a prospect of a large number of permits being issued in the near future, and in order to arrange for just distribution of the available diamonds, it will be necessary to harmonize the schedules, so far as the games are being played on Newton Playgrounds. Last year requests for permits came in which could not possibly be honored on account of previous issue.

"A DAY IN THE ARMY"

The boys of St. Paul's Church gave an excellent presentation last Friday and Saturday evenings at Lincoln hall, Newton Highlands, of the play, "A Day in the Army." The cast included William Wellman, Archie Wellman, and Harold Collins in the title roles and the remainder of the club as assistants. The second act included considerable vaudeville with Miss Pauline Woodbury at the piano, Mr. W. G. Sampson, violin, and Mr. Wilmot Whitney as soloist. Mr. A. G. Wellman was manager and wrote the libretto.

N. H. S.

A pretty dancing party was held by the senior class of the Technical High School at Temple Hall last Friday evening. The matrons were Mrs. I. O. Palmer, Mrs. Samuel Thurber, Jr., Mrs. Maynard Maxim, Mrs. Samuel Kidger and Miss Wiley. The floor director was Alfred Geist and the aids were Walter Terrio, John Berquist, Miss May White and Miss Mae Stuart.

INTEGRITY, STABILITY, SAFETY—each holds a tremendous, vital importance in the selection of a Bank for your personal account.

Yet every Bank must maintain the standard of all three; there can be no varying degree in any of them.

But that great big element of SERVICE—! it varies as personal nature varies.

This Bank dwells on the complete, local, intimate qualities of its Service, because we realize that it may mean all the difference between personal convenience and inconvenience—satisfaction and dissatisfaction.

You will find our service always the same—a little better than the rest.

NEWTON CLUB

On Wednesday evening the club was well entertained by Prof. Franklin Matthews of the Pulitzer School of Journalism of Columbia College. His lecture covered the world circling trip of the Atlantic Fleet, which did so much to cement international ties between our country and those visited by the 14,000 "blue jackets" under Admiral Sperry and "Fighting Bob" Evans. The pictures were clear and beautiful, embracing views of "Rio," Punta Arenas, Callao, Lima; the "Golden Gate," of San Francisco, was followed by a description of life and scenes in Hawaii, which the lecturer termed a "dreamland" in the contrast to New Zealand as the "wonderland."

The slides showing this little appreciated country, from the travel tour standpoint, were of the best given, and the scenery reproduced brought rounds of applause from those present. Australia and Japan received a liberal share of the lecturer's attention followed by the Suez Canal trip and return to Hampton Roads. Professor Matthews was one of the dozen newspaper men to accompany the fleet. His fund of humor, coupled with fine descriptive power and keen analysis of world problems, political and economic, provided one of the most entertaining and instructive evenings of this most successful club year.

On Wednesday next a Matinee Bridge will be given. The ladies in charge will be Mesdames Carl F. Schipper, Raymond Tucker, Harold B. Sherman and Chas. A. Cotton.

MUSIC CLUB

The West Newton Music Club gave an enjoyable musicale last Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Allen Hubbard on Montvale Crescent, Newton Centre. The program included groups of songs by Mrs. J. B. Ross, piano selections by Miss Rosamond Capen and Miss Florence Carter, a sonata on the violin by Mrs. Allen Hubbard, a trio, Miss Adeline Packard, violin, Miss Lillian Haynes, cello, and Miss Ethel Harding, piano, rendered Opus 17 by Beethoven. Miss Florence Stoddard and Mrs. Edward B. Stratton were the accompanists.

NEWTON CEMETERY CORPORATION

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Cemetery Corporation, held April 9, Mr. William M. Flanders of Newton Centre, present Trustee, was elected Vice-President and Mr. William F. Bacon of Newton was elected a Trustee of the Corporation to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Mr. Warren P. Tyler.

Messrs. George Hutchinson, President, and Francis Murdock were elected a Committee of the Trustees to prepare a memorial of Mr. Tyler to be placed on the records of the Corporation.

For more than forty years Mr. Tyler served as Trustee of the Newton Cemetery Corporation and always with a kindly interest and unselfish devotion.

TECH SHOW

Newton is going to be well represented in the Tech Show entitled "Money In Sight," next week at the Boston Opera House, on Thursday no less than six of the students in the cast or management hailing from this city. Two of them will be in the pony ballet, which consists of eight dancers and a premiere, Alfred L. Higgins, '14, of Newtonville and Howard P. Feasenden, '13, of Newton Centre. Warren L. Tapley, a freshman of the present school year, will be one of the society girls, whose gowns are to be up-to-the-minute confections from the most modern of Boston's large establishments. In the business management, Stephen T. Woodbridge, '15, is assistant to the head of this office, Charles P. Fiske, '14, has the important work of stage manager, while C. Roger Lord, '16, is one of his four assistant managers. The groupings in the different offices are the means that Tech has taken to secure experience and the certainty of future workers for future plays. Each position is based on competitive work and the best men are chosen. Mr. Robert W. Weeks, '13, general manager, has been in that work now for four years and in following it up he and his assistants have gained a pretty good notion of business principles.

MR. WESTGATE DEAD

Mr. Solon M. Westgate, formerly of Lowell died at the Newton Hospital, Tuesday evening, April 1st, after a long and very trying illness; aged 34 years. The funeral services were from the home of his wife's father, Alderman Reuben Forknall; family prayers at the home followed by services at the North Church, Rev. Charles L. Merriam, the pastor, officiating, at the conclusion a delegation of members of Pentucket Lodge of Lowell and Dalhousie Lodge of Newton of the Masonic Order, rendered their burial services in an impressive manner. The pall bearers consisted of a delegation from Centralville Lodge of Lowell, and Newton Lodge of Newton, I. O. O. F. The Newton Lodge Quartette rendered the following selections: "Lead, Kindly Light"; "Rock of Ages"; "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere"; and chanting the Lord's Prayer.

There was a profusion of flowers, among some of them the set pieces of Highland Council, R. A. of Lowell; Centralville Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Lowell; Pentucket Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of Lowell; the Waltham Watch Factory; Mr. and Mrs. George Westgate of Lowell; the neighbors of Lowell; Mrs. E. Delmage of New York; Mr. Frank Moody's Drug Store of Lowell; Miss Mary L. Donahoe of Newton. There were also numerous sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Noden; Childs, Jr.; Royce; Casey; Barnard; Walter; Ship-ton; Lamb; Loury; M. Adams; Seawards; Taylor; Cane; Bigelow; McDennott; Beals and others.

The interment was at the Newton Cemetery Friday, April 4th. Mr. Westgate leaves two children, one son, Melville, aged 6, and a daughter, Miriam, aged 3, besides his wife, Mrs. Blanch M. (nee Forknall).

NEWTON BUSINESS MEN

The recently organized Newton Business Men's Association will hold its first regular meeting next Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Building, Newton, when Hon. J. S. Corcoran, Mayor of the Mass. State Board of Trade, will speak on the value of business organizations. An invitation is extended to every business man in all the Newtons to attend this meeting.

POLITICAL NOTES

This evening there will be rallies for Norman H. White, the progressive candidate for Congress at Eliot Hall, Newton, Bray Hall, Newton Centre, and Lasell Seminary, Auburndale.

In business today, a man is not criticized because he may not be able to fill a higher position—it is only when he cannot, or does not do his own work that he is open to censure. Incompetence is the most deadly of business sins; for it there is no excuse—we do not pretend to a knowledge of any business but our own. But we know that, know it well enough to give a hard and fast guarantee.

something like ten barrels of liquor is sold during the year. Nobody is keener than a boy to see and hear what is going on. The sales and the hypocrisy are not hid from their eyes. It is not a good training for citizenship.

We protest against the sixth-class liquor licenses, in the fourth place, because they are unnecessary. In 1906 the eighth-class license law was passed, and now any registered pharmacist who has a certificate of fitness may dispense liquors on a physician's prescription. This law meets every legitimate need. The prescriptions furnish an accurate record of sales. Instead of the purchaser writing his own prescription, a reputable physician takes that responsibility.

I have tried to keep an open mind on this question, and I have diligently sought for reasons why Newton should continue to grant the sixth-class licenses. The only arguments advanced that seem worthy of consideration are these:

1. The law is mandatory. At least one sixth-class license must be granted, if it is applied for.

2. The answer to that is that the Board of Aldermen are the sole judges of the fitness of the applicants, and have power to refuse all application. This is the decision of Justice Holmes, now of the Supreme Court of the United States. No person is a fit applicant who has violated the intent of the law and abused its privileges. To sell for any other purposes than "medical, mechanical, or chemical," is to violate the intent of the law. Every druggist in Newton has, on his own evidence, abused the privilege of his license. It is an absurdity to maintain that these 7,710 gallons were sold for purposes contemplated by law. Therefore, no druggist in the city is a fit candidate for license this year. And I will go further and say that nobody in the city is fit to administer such a license. Acting on this decision of Justice Holmes, of the 262 No. License cities and towns of Massachusetts only 38 granted sixth-class licenses last year. There are 15 No-License cities. All but four, Cambridge, Medford, Somerville and Newton refused to grant sixth-class licenses. At the present rate, we shall soon be in the "bad eminence" of being the only no-license city in the state that considers the law mandatory.

The second argument is that the sale of liquors by the drug-stores is a small evil in comparison with the immense quantities of intoxicants that are brought in by the expressman and delivered at the doors in Newton. It is undoubtedly true that far more liquor is bought in Boston for consumption in Newton than is purchased in Newton itself. But Boston is a license city. It has voted for the sale of intoxicants. We cannot control the sale in Boston; we can in Newton. If there are expressmen whose main business is to deliver liquors, let us find out the facts and take away their licenses. But even if we take away all the licenses, we cannot hinder Boston firms from delivering here in their own wagons, if they choose to do so. Certainly we cannot legislate in the dark.

We owe much to the former Franchise Committees of this Board who have given us the facts about the druggists' sales. Give us the facts about the express business, and if there is any way in which public morality can be promoted, you will find your remonstrances of tonight ready to join in any well-considered movement. But let me emphasize this, that the question of the consumption of liquor in Newton, and how it may be diminished, is not before us. We are attempting to make all the citizens total abstainers by law. Nothing of that sort is before us for discussion. The question is solely as to the carrying out of the intent of the no-license vote of the community. With that question, the consumption of liquor procured in Boston and brought into the city has nothing to do.

The only other argument advanced that merits consideration is that the business is directly under control through the sixth-class license, but that under the eighth-class licenses, it is not under the direct control. But that is, I judge, a misapprehension. The Board has power to revoke an eighth-class license at any time, if the holder is proved to be unfit. And so far as the abuse of prescriptions by unworthy physicians and the springing up of "kitchen bar-rooms" and other illegal places of sale, is concerned, the experience of other cities has demonstrated that these fears are unfounded. We have the evidence here tonight from other cities where the sixth-class license is not granted.

We present to you much the same protest as last year. But our position has been strengthened in twelvemonth. Last year this Board saw fit to renew the licenses. In spite of your care, and the excellent supervision of the Police, the recorded sales have increased 20 per cent. During the year one more city has refused to grant sixth-class licenses. In 1911, ten cities out of sixteen no-license cities refused them; in 1912, eleven out of fifteen no-license cities have declined to grant them. And the public opinion of our city has so far as opportunity has been given registered its decision against the granting of these licenses in Newton. We have tried the system of sixth-class licenses for years. The results are not satisfactory. Give us an opportunity to try the other system. After a year without the sixth-class license we shall be able to compare results and decide intelligently which system best promotes public order and morality.

The next speaker was Mr. Herbert E. Locke of Newton Upper Falls, who spoke as follows: "Some months ago, I should judge about 8 or 9 months, one of the Aldermen from our Ward rode from Boston to my home with me, and in the course of our conversation asked me where I stood on the 6th Class Liquor Licenses. I told him, that when I voted NO, it meant no sale of liquor of any kind in the City of Newton. He told me that he knew that certain people were strongly of the opinion that certain druggists were abusing their privilege, and that some of them had appeared before the Committee and had been warned to be more careful regarding the disbursing of liquor. I only know the results as pertaining to Newton Upper Falls, the village where I live. In 1911 the two druggists there received 829 gallons, and they sold 797 gallons or about 18 barrels; in 1912, they received 1397½ gallons and sold 1210½ gallons, a gain in receipts of 583½ gallons or 68 per cent and an increase in sale of 413 gallons or 52 per cent; in other words, the two druggists sold 28 barrels of liquor in our village, and as the Reverend gentleman has said, we hardly believe it was all sold for medicinal or for purposes that it is supposed to be sold. When you stop and figure that our population is only about 2700 you can see that is nearly one-half gallon for every man, woman and child there, and we ask if you believe that it was sold for medicinal purposes. Evidently the warning did not reach as far as Upper Falls or else it was taken as a joke and you gentlemen who voted for the licenses were openly insulted, when it is shown that the sales increased 52 per cent during the past year. Newton Upper Falls has a large foreign population, but I believe it was put to a vote there to-day the majority would be for NO LICENSE."

Mrs. George H. Wilkins, President of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, read a communication from the Federation asking the Board of Aldermen not to grant the licenses during the coming year.

Dr. H. S. Pomeroy of Auburndale, stated that as a physician he did not believe in the use of alcoholic liquors even in cases of emergency which he believed could be treated to better advantage with a cup of good black coffee. He stated that up to 15 or 20 years ago physicians had relied in alcoholic liquors to a great extent, but since that time scientists had discovered that liquors were of more harm than good, and that nearly all reputable or up-to-date physicians had discarded their use. Personally, he stated, that he had not written a prescription for alcohol in any shape, for years.

Mr. Fred S. Retan of West Newton stated that when the citizens voted No License, that that meant no license and that the present state of affairs in the City should cease. He called attention to the statements of Dr. Pomeroy relative to the lack of necessity for all these licenses and for the sale of liquor. He stated that he understood that 10 gallons would be enough for the use of all the physicians in Newton for a year and that then there would be some left. But our position had been abused and that the privilege had been abused and that the 8th class license takes care of all the business which the 6th Class Licenses does that is legitimate. Mr. Retan hoped that the Board would recognize the fact that the privilege had been abused and knowing the temper of the people, the licenses would be refused; and thus allow the citizens to rear their children in a community where liquor is not sold.

Mr. Charles A. Merrill of Vineyard Haven spoke from his experience as a police officer, stating he had examined in the vicinity of 250,000 sales in drug stores in the City of Lowell, in Framingham, and in dozens of towns particularly in the middle and western part of the State. He had never seen a sale recorded in a drug store for medicinal purposes, had seen less than five for chemical purposes, and about 75 per cent of those for medicinal purposes was for whiskey. He had found in asking physicians about these matters that the largest number written by any one physician in a year was 15 for alcoholic medicine. Mr. Merrill stated that he believed an expert was better able to judge whether or not a man needed liquor, and that this was just the way the matter was handled under the 8th class license. He exhibited various books which had been taken from drug stores. In one store there had been found 1847 bottles of liquor in packages in candy boxes, under the counters, on the shelves and in a specially prepared place under the floor, and that the sales recorded in this store for a period of seven months was about 15,000.

Ex-Alderman Grosvenor Calkins of Newton asked what had become of the druggists. He stated that the hearing had been widely advertised and that it was a vital matter to them, and he therefore wondered why they were not present. He also stated that at the hearing which was given before the Committee on Public Franchises and Licenses, at which all the holders of licenses were requested to be present, only one appeared, and when questioned as to why he desired the licenses, merely stated because he had complied with the technical requirements of the law.

Mr. Calkins stated that inquiry had failed to locate any of the druggists at this hearing, and he believed this queer when it was considered that this business during the past year had surely netted the druggists in the vicinity of $17,000 or $18,000. He believed that their absence indicated one of two things, either they did not care about the licenses or they had so little confidence in their arguments that they were unwilling to come and state their reasons for desiring the licenses.

Mr. Calkins stated that Newton was a strong no-license community and the only excuse for permitting the sale or legalizing the sale of liquor is for medicinal chemical or mechanical purposes. There are two ways in which this can be done; the first by issuing a sixth class license or by issuing an eighth class license. In each case something has to be written in order to get the liquor and these written memorandums are open to inspection, and in each case the license of the druggist is subject to suspension or revocation. The only difference between the two licenses is that in one case the purchaser writes his own prescription and in the second case he has got to get a physician to do it for him. The 6th class license has not been satisfactory, the sales increasing on an average of 20% every year. He stated that out of 265 cities and towns, 147 granted 6th class licenses, 118 granted 8th class licenses, and 100 granted no license.

He stated that he had communicated with the Chief of Police in each of the 11 cities which grant these licenses and also with the Chief of Police of the Town of Watertown, and had received replies from all but one. The following were questions asked and answers given:

Is it your opinion that the druggists in general observe the conditions of the 8th class licenses in your city and sell only on physicians' prescription? 9 yes, 2 no.

Have the sales of liquor increased or diminished under the 8th class license as compared with your previous experience if any, under the 6th class license? Two answered that on account of rapid increase in population that comparison was impossible. The rest reported sales diminished, and Waltham reported that during the first year of the 8th class licenses arrests for drunkenness cut in two.

Have you any evidence that there are doctors in your city who are in practice of writing prescriptions to legalize sales of liquor for other than medicinal purposes. 9 replied no, 2 yes.

Mr. Calkins believed the Board of Excise Commissioners of the City of Boston were perhaps the best experts in the State to judge this matter of the sixth class licenses, and that they had for years been opposed to them.

He stated that in closing, that in view of the opinion of physicians and in view of the conditions in other cities and towns working under the 8th class licenses, the Board of Aldermen should not grant Sixth Class Licenses during the coming year.

No one appeared in favor of granting these licenses and a rising vote taken at the request of Mr. Weston, showed a large majority against granting them. No one appeared on either side at the hearing on the matter of liquor transportation permits and a rising vote, requested by Alderman Jones, showed about the same majority against granting such permits.

Mr. R. F. Gammons, 2nd, spoke in favor of granting the petition of the Edison Co. for underground conduits in Lake avenue and there was no opposition. No one appeared at hearings on locating a steam engine and boiler on Adams street extension for laundry purposes, on petitions to keep gasoline by James R. Doyle, Floral street, George R. Kelly, Homer street, Henry I. Harriman, Hunnewell avenue, D. Y. Swatey, Lowell avenue, F. E. Smith, Fairmont avenue, and Reuben Forknall, California street, on taking land for sewers in Pontiac road, Robey road, Carlton road, Mossfield road, Waban avenue, Gilbert street and Bacon place and the gasoline permits were immediately granted.

Mr. Joseph Vachon and Mr. Thomas Halfrey spoke in favor of accepting Faxon street, under the betterment act and John Shorten filed a written protest. On the matter of laying out Sharon avenue, under betterment act, Simon E. Duffin protested unless the line was slightly changed from the present plan. Information as to the proposed cost was asked by a number of persons and in the absence of the City Engineer, those present were notified that the committee in charge of the matter would give them a further hearing.

Mayor Hatfield sent in copies of recent acts of the Legislature relative to office of comptroller of accounts and permission to lay a sewer in Waltham to reach Adams avenue. The school committee also transmitted a request of the Waban Improvement Society for purchase of additional school land at Waban.

Petitions were received from Richard Capstick for appointment as weigher of coal, from the Edison Co. and the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. for joint location of poles on Washington street, from the Edison Co. for attachments on Bowen street, the Telephone Co. for attachments on Washington street and from F. H. Blackwell for change of ward lines near Woodland Park Hotel.

On report of committees, a hearing was assigned for April 21 on rounding corner of Howard and Bellevue streets, $550 authorized for new automobile for Buildings Department, $4500 appropriated from serial bonds for part payment of land adjoining Hyde School at Newton Highlands, citizens to raise an equal amount, $500 additional appropriated for engine repairs, water department, leave to withdraw granted Joseph Bates for soldier's relief, $560.28 appropriated for pensions for certain laborers, grants of $24,603.37 for certain city expenses and of $11,700 for special expenses authorized, land taken for sewer and construction approved in Bacon place, and water mains laid in certain streets at cost of $2745. The order authorizing an agreement with the Sargent heirs relative to exchange of land adjoining the Auburndale playground was rejected by a vote of 19 to 1, Alderman Jones voting alone in favor of the order, after making a brief speech. $36.96 was appropriated for additional pension for Patrick Nally to cover the time between the date of filing his application and the date it was finally granted. Alderman Bemis opposed this action as establishing a bad precedent but the order was passed by a vote of 19 to 1.

An unusual incident was the action of three members of the Finance Committee in receding from the majority report of that committee favoring an additional grant of $300 for purchase of new automobile for the Forestry Department. Alderman Bemis, who was the sole dissenter, at first opposed the appropriation on the ground that the city should begin at once on standardizing its automobile service, obtain lighter, cheaper cars, and make an effort to reduce the present high cost of this service. Alderman Pratt, Richardson and Winslow then announced a change of view, while Alderman Murphy and Jamieson of the committee spoke in favor of the committee action. The matter was finally committed to the Finance Committee, which will confer with the mayor on the matter.

The committee on Schools filed a report, favoring an appropriation of $346,433 for the school department during 1914, and the detailed estimates of the school committee and the reports were referred to the Finance Committee. A hearing was ordered on April 21 on laying a concrete sidewalk on Watertown street, under the betterment act and at 14.46 P. M. the board adjourned.

Crawford Ranges

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably—and—if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But—if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy—its name is Crawford.

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

EDITORIAL

In reply to my editorial of last week,
Mr. Norman H. White in explaining his Washington appearance, writes me as follows:—"I introduced in my two hours' speech a vast amount of general evidence none of which has been controversial excepting a certain portion of a letter duly signed by a reputable attorney of New York City. I introduced this letter stating frankly that I did not vouch for its entire accuracy. The letter stated that the President's brother, Henry W. Taft, was a law partner of Mr. Wickersham, then attorney-general of the United States. It will be remembered that Mr.
Wickersham dropped the United States suit against the New Haven without any apparent reason." (Note the innuendo conveyed by this sentence.—Ed.)
"The letter furthermore stated that Henry W. Taft and Mr. Wickersham were in the firm of Strong & Cadwalder in New York City, and that they had been counsel for the New Haven road. Lastly the letter stated that it was the writer's belief that Mr. Taft was a director in the New Haven road.
I introduced this letter with the specific statement that I did not vouch for its accuracy."

I quote Mr. White's words in full, in order and all, that my readers may learn from his own pen, that Mr.
White was the medium thru which a suspicion of crooked dealing was thrown on the President of the United States. Mr. White cannot escape some measure of responsibility for this unfortunate incident. He read that letter for some purpose. If it was to give the public the impression which the public immediately accepted, then his efforts to throw the responsibility on some unknown writer will not save him from the contempt which the affair deserves. If Mr. White read that letter for any other purpose, the reason has not thus far appeared. In addition, no one acquainted with the New Haven controversy, and for one moment, that Mr. White who has been for years one of the most active opponents of that railroad, does not know the men who are the directors of that company. The idea is simply ridiculous.

I have given this matter considerable space because I believe it emphasizes the fact which I desire to make, namely, that Mr. White, by his own actions, demonstrates that he is not the level headed, common sense kind of man we need to represent the thirteenth district in Congress.

The Republicans of Newton will have some influence on the pending tariff bill in the National Congress, according to Senator John W. Weeks.
Senator Weeks states that the real fight on the Underwood tariff bill will come in the Senate, where the Democratic majority is so small that it is possible to make a determined fight for the interests of New England. The election of Mr. Cutting to Congress next Tuesday will notify the country that this district does not approve that measure, and will strengthen the stand to be made by Senators Lodge and Weeks. The election of a Democrat, on the other hand, will give the opposition the opportunity to prove that Senator Weeks' own district does not support his position on the tariff. It is of the utmost importance therefore to roll up a substantial majority for
Mr. Cutting. Vote for Cutting.

If "Taxpayer" will kindly send in his name and address, I shall be glad to print his clever rhymes in regard to street sprinkling.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Legislature is busily at work nowadays, and with plenty of important matters to consider. By a close vote on Tuesday, the bill to abolish party enrollment was given a merited defeat. All three of our representatives voting in opposition to the bill.
On the Boston and Eastern railroad bill, Messrs. Ellis and White voted with the minority for the Lomax amendment to prohibit the sale of the franchise of the company, and Mr. Both-field voted against the amendment. The bill was then passed.

The candidacy of Norman H. White for Congress in our district, revives
the many stories about Mr. White while he was a member of the house, possibly the best one and of which I was a personal witness, was as follows: Representative Thomas W.
White of Newton attended a hearing before one of the committees and when he rose to speak, one of the members facetiously asked him his name and when he said "White" immediately queried, "Norman?" Quick as a flash Mr. White replied, "No, not Norman, only normal," the hearty laugh which greeted this declaration spoke volumes for the feeling then abroad that the present Progressive candidate for Congress in this district was "abnormal" in his tendencies.

The bill to authorize Newton to take an additional 3,000,000 gallons of water from the Charles river valley has been reported and is moving smoothly along its legislative course.
Representative Bothfield was unable to obtain a favorable report on the bill to dredge the Charles river from Watertown to Upper Falls and had it referred to the next general Court.
The opposition comes from members who believe that the cities directly affected should pay at least one half the expense and that it should not be a burden on the entire district. If the Boston Manufacturing Company at Waltham would only raise its flash boards about eighteen inches, a large part of the present difficulty from low water would be eliminated. The company has offered to do this on certain conditions and the Metropolitan Park Commission will endeavor to effect some settlement in order to bring this desirable movement to a head. In the meantime the bill to dredge the lower Charles river from Watertown to Brighton has received favorable action.

One of the interesting sidelights on the antiquated taxation laws of the Commonwealth is the recent report of the Tax Commissioner, who estimated that over four and one half millions of personal property, now escapes taxation every year. Notwithstanding this fact the Legislature refuses to take any action whatever, upon the pertinent recommendations of the tax Commissioner on this important matter.

MR. ROCKWOOD DEAD

Mr. John E. Rockwood, a resident of Newton Centre for the past 35 years and one of the best known and highly esteemed residents of that village died at his home, 961 Beacon street last Sunday after a long illness. At the time of his death Mr. Rockwood was president of the Warren and Hill Coal company, having been connected with the company for the past 11 years.
Mr. Rockwood also conducted an insurance business in Boston. His early education was gained in the school of Weymouth, where he resided until grown to manhood. After his marriage in Worcester he resided for three years in Brookline, and removed to this city 35 years ago. He was one of the best known members of the First Congregational Church of Newton Centre. He is survived by his widow, one son Mr. Edward Farnum Rockwood of Boston and a brother, Mr. Samuel Rockwood of Weymouth.

Funeral services were held from his late home on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, pastor of the First Congregational Church officiating. The house was thronged with friends, who had the pleasure of his acquaintance during his long residence in this city. Following the services the remains were taken to the Rural Cemetery, Worcester, where the committal service was read by Rev.
Mr. Noyes.

"JEALOUSY"

This evening in Players hall, West
Newton, members of the Hunnewell Club will present the three act comedy
"Jealousy." For the benefit of the Social Service League Fund of the Newton Hospital.

"Jealousy" originally was produced at the Hunnewell Club, in three private performances last January. Its success was so decidedly marked, and so many requests for repetition have been received, that the management has at last responded in this Benefit Performance—and now asks the support of every public-spirited resident of this city in this endeavor to largely increase the League Fund.

The cast includes Mrs. Harry L.
Dexter, Jr., Mrs. Ralph W. Barker,
Mrs. May Shepard Hayward, Mrs. Edward P. Tuttle, Miss Dorothy MacLure, Miss Dorothy Wellington, Mr. George
Owen, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Mr. Derby
Brown, Mr. Clarence C. Colby, Mr.
Gouldin S. Sprague and Mr. Harry F.
Estabrook.

FORMAL OPENING

The formal opening of the recently enlarged Newton Free Library took place last week Wednesday evening and there was an attendance of about 300 ladies and gentlemen, including Mr.
Chas. F. D. Belden, the state librarian, and many librarians from neighboring cities and towns. The trustees, Messrs. F. H. Howes, Chas. E. Kelsey,
Wm. M. Bullivant, Thomas W. Proctor and Judge J. C. Kennedy were present and the Librarian, Miss E. P. Thuron, and her staff, guided the visitors about the new building. The entire structure was thrown open and the new stacks, rooms, reading, reference, children's, lecture, and even the boller room were visited.

The main delivery room was beautifully decorated with pink tulips, jonquills and pink and the lighting effects were much admired.

RECEPTION

Mrs. George A. Burdett entertained last week on Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 7 and on Thursday from 3 until 6 at her residence on Gray
Cliff road, in honor of her daughters
the Misses Elizabeth and Ellen Burdett.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with a profusion of cut flowers and music was furnished by a three piece orchestra. In the dining room where refreshments were served, the table decorations were white and yellow, a magnificent basket of yellow roses with ribbon streamers forming a center-piece.

The pouters were Mrs. Albert Birch of Belmont, Mrs. Elmer Silver of Wo-burn, Mrs. J. F. White and Mrs. W. A.
French of Brookline, Mrs. J. W. Chapman of Boston and Mrs. Robert Cas-son, Mrs. Charles Copeland, Mrs. W. C.
Bray, Mrs. Geo. W. Crampton, Mrs.
A. E. Alvord, Mrs. W. C. Brewer, Miss Grace Dickerson and Mrs. Eaton of Newton Centre.

Frappe was served by the young ladies. A large company of guests were present from Boston, Brookline, Belmont, Woburn and the Newtons.

There was a large company of guests present from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM

The Young Women's Club of St.
John's Church, Newtonville, presented the farce, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," at Players' Hall, on the evenings of April 3 and 4, for the benefit of the Parish House Fund.

Two large audiences enthusiastically applauded the excellent production, and about $250 was realized for the fund. The parts were taken by Mr. J.
Ellis Gammons, Mrs. John B. Hebbard, Mrs. Roland F. Gammons, Jr.,
Mr. Wm. Howard Brown, Miss Irene
Atkinson, Mr. John W. Condit, Mr. Roland F. Gammons, 2nd, Miss Martha G. Condit, Mr. Derby Brown.

The good work of Mrs. Hebbard, a newcomer in Newton dramatics, who took a very exacting role, was especially worthy of comment, while the acting of Mr. Condit was, as always, of professional excellence.

Much credit is due Mr. Derby Brown for his careful and intelligent work as stage manager and coach.

Mr. J. Ellis Gammons was business manager; Miss Frances M. Richardson, property mistress; and Miss Ethel T.
Gammons, head usher.

RALLIES FOR CUTTING

Rallies in the interests of Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston, the Republican candidate for Congress in this district were held in various parts of the city last evening with a good attendance at each place. Mr. Cutting and Senator John W. Weeks spoke at each rally, and the other speakers were Hon. Albert P. Langtry, Hon. Chas. H. Pen-son, Representatives Geo. H. Ellis and H. E. Bothfield of Newton, R. M. Washburn of Worcester, W. S. Kinney, W.
R. Meins and Martin Hays of Boston,
Hon. Louis A. Frothingham, Hon. C.
Neal Barney of Lynn, Representative Drury of Waltham, James F. Cavanagh of Everett, A. B. Messer of Concord, and W. F. Garcelon and A. W.
Blakemore of Newton. Hon. James
M. W. Hall presided at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, Mr. A. P. Carter at Temple Hall, Newtonville, A. G. Hos-mer at the residence of C. E. Gibson, West Newton, W. A. Knowlton at the home of H. P. Converse, Auburndale, D. A. Ambrose at the home of W. J.
Gould, Wabun, Alderman T. J. Sullivan
at the residence of T. J. Upper Falls, Hon. S. W. Jones at his residence, Newton Highlands, F. D. Fuller and
C. B. Gleason at the Hunnewell Club, Newton. A meeting was also held at Players' Hall, West Newton.

BAD FIRE

Two alarms were sounded at 7.50 this morning for a stubborn blaze in the factory of Stowe & Woodward Company, rubber goods manufacturers on Oak street, Upper Falls, which damaged the building and contents to the extent of $15,000. The 40 odd men that are employed in the building were forced to make a hasty retreat, many making their exit through windows.

The fire started in the mixing room, and as considerable gasoline is used in manufacturing the rubber, the interior was saturated with it, and the flames had a good headway before the apparatus arrived. The building is a two-story structure, and the interior was gutted. The office building and store room for the finished material was untouched by the flames.

The burning rubber made it extremely hard for the firemen in fighting the fire. Three hundred gallons of gasoline which was stored underground outside the building were untouched by the flames.

TO HONOR MR. TRUETTE

Next Wednesday evening, April 16,
a conspicuous honor is to be paid Mr.
Everett E. Truette, organist and choir master of the Elliot Church, Newton when the fifteenth anniversary of his service is to be celebrated at the church by a public performance of excerpts from works sung by the choir.
The tribute is due to the efforts of former singers who, with the present choir, are to participate in the concert.
The return of these former members will make a chorus of 78 singers.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.
Local Announcements

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands meets with Miss Thompson of Hartford street on Monday afternoon.

On Tuesday, April 16, at 1.30, the Newtonville Woman's Guild will hold its annual luncheon followed by the business meeting and election of officers. There will be a short program at the close of the annual meeting.

The subject of the meeting of the Social Science Club on April 16 will be "The Inland Waterways of the United States" to be presented by Mrs. F. H. Tucker.

The annual meeting of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle was held on April 3 in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville. The officers elected were: President, Mrs. George M. Fluke, Auburndale; First Vice-President, Mrs. William H. Brown, Auburndale; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Joshua Seaver, Newton Highlands; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. F. Hadlock, Auburndale; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. H. Kimball, West Newton; Treasurer, Miss A. S. Chamberlain, Auburndale. Plans are being made for a most successful year, with increased membership and much interest in the work.

Local Happenings

At the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club held at the home of Mrs. C. S. Cook, Jr., on Monday afternoon, Mrs. E. C. Hickey read a paper on "Truth-Telling for Children." Miss Ethel Jaynes sang several selections with Mrs. A. P. Carter at the piano. A social hour closed a very pleasant afternoon.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Armstrong, 15 Bradford road, April 7. Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee read a paper on "Legislation in Massachusetts." Laws pertaining to dated and labeled cold storage products, mills, weights and measures, etc., were spoken of, also some of the bills being presented.

Mrs. A. C. Cox then played "Rondo Brilliant," Hummel, Opus 120. Then followed a recess with refreshments. A business meeting came after the recess; officers being elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. Cox then played "Kismet-Ostrow," Rubenstein. The President, Mrs. H. E. Williams, gave the club a pleasant talk of her varied experiences during her recent southern trip, to close the afternoon.

The C. L. S. C. met with Miss Ayers on Monday. The fourth scene from Browning's "Paracelsus" was read and explained in an interesting way by Dr. Wentworth, who had charge of the afternoon's work. She was assisted in the reading by Miss Thompson, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Emery Clark, members of the club. A spirited discussion followed. The next meeting will be held with Miss Anna Thompson, Hartford street, Newton Highlands.

The Parish House of the Methodist Church at Auburndale was filled almost to overflowing with the members and guests of the Auburndale Review Club for its Home Talent Day, on Tuesday morning. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. A. Knowlton, who announced the program of the morning, a play entitled, "Dickens' Remonstrance." The cast was as follows: Betsy Trotwood, Mrs. Amy; Mrs. Micawber, Mrs. Dunton; Mrs. M. Stinger, Mrs. Ruggles; Fanny Squeers, Miss Smith; Mrs. Boffin, Mrs. Hildreth; Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Draper; Mrs. General, Mrs. Cole; Mrs. Bumble, Mrs. Valentine; Miss Flite, Mrs. Winslow; Dolly Varden, Mrs. Peabody; The Marchioness, Miss Rider; Miss Pross, Mrs. Fuller; Tilly Slowboy, Miss Peloubet; Mary Graham, Mrs. Spaulding; Rosa Dartle, Mrs. Ordway. The play is very bright and amusing, the characters having been called together to consider how they have been treated by Mr. Dickens in his books and to remonstrate against his portrayal. All the parts were well taken and the costumes were elaborate and appropriate. At the close the characters marched down through the aisles that the audience might examine them more closely.

The annual Children's Day was celebrated yesterday afternoon by the Waban Woman's Club, and as in former years, was a successful and thoroughly delightful affair for the little guests. All the school children of Waban had been invited, and judging by the number that completely filled the Union Church vestry there were few who failed to accept. The entertainer was Mr. Ray Newton, who mystified and delighted the children by an exhibition of legerdemain. Following the entertainment ice cream and cake were served.

At the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Newton Highlands Literary Club held at the home of Mrs. Elwood Barker in West Newton, the subject for the afternoon was "Colorado." Mrs. H. B. Farrington, who has lately returned from this most interesting state, gave a paper on its beauty and resources. Mrs. W. E. Birdsall followed with a talk on "Ben Lindsay, the Just Judge."

At the Boston Political Club held in the New England Woman's Club rooms Wednesday afternoon, a unique program was given. The afternoon was devoted to the reading and consideration of the platforms of the three political parties. Mrs. Livy Richards presented the Democratic platform. Miss Edna Spencer who was a delegate to the Progressive Convention in Chicago, discussed that platform, and Mrs. W. E. Birdsall who was introduced as a dyed-in-the-wool Republican with progressive principles, presented that platform. The afternoon proved to be most interesting and valuable.

The Waban Woman's Club held its annual entertainment for the children on Monday afternoon at the Union Church vestry. Mr. Ray Newton held the close attention of all by his interesting tricks, carried out with the assistance of some of the small boys and girls, things appeared and disappeared in a most mysterious manner and the magic wand seemed to play an important part during the afternoon. Ice cream and cake were then greatly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Joseph H. Breck of Beacon street will be the hostess at the next meeting, Monday, April the twenty-first, when Anna Sturges Duryea will give a lecture on "Anticipating the Third Hague Conference."

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. R.

Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, regent. Mrs. William H. Lucas, delegate, and Mrs. Gardner I. Jones and Mrs. Edwin T. Pearing, alternates, left this morning on a special car, with other delegates from Massachusetts, to attend the Continental Congress to be held in Washington, D. C., next week. They will stop at the New Willard Hotel, the Massachusetts headquarters, during the congress.

TRAVEL CLASS

The travel class of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club met on Thursday, April 3, at the residence of Mrs. H. K. Harrison, West Newton. Mrs. Emma Dimond gave a short account of the early history of Peru, which was followed by a very interesting and lengthy description of the nitrate beds of Iquique by Mrs. C. E. Quinn. A talk on the agriculture, manufacturing and general development of Chile by Mrs. Sidney Sargent was most instructive. Mrs. Bernard Early's paper descriptive of the important cities of Chile, their mineral wealth and commerce was greatly appreciated and was followed by a brief sketch of the Island of Juan Fernandez by Mrs. Geo. W. McNear.

The Perian Club met with Mrs. Glover on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Willard gave a very interesting paper on "The Irish Rhine," after which there was a social hour with refreshments.

SUCCESSFUL BRIDGE PARTY

About $250 was raised at the bridge party held Monday afternoon at the Newton Club house by the Smith College Alumnae Association of Newton for the benefit of the Smith million dollar fund. The affair was under the direction of Miss Mary Glover, assisted by a committee consisting of Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, Mrs. Guy M. Winslow, Miss Katherine H. Ames, Mrs. Earl Conway, Miss Grace Richardson, Mrs. Metcalf Melcher and Miss Bertha Hackett. About fifty tables were in play and the affair was quite a social function. After the game, refreshments were served in the dining room which was attractively decorated with jonquills. Miss Lucy E. Allen, president of the Association and Miss Ethel Gilman, the vice-president, poured, and Mrs. Scofield served the frappe. Miss Katherine Ames was in charge of the refreshments and was assisted by Misses Dorothy and Marion Whitely, Lucy Robbins, Ruth Baldwin and Eleanor Goddard. The 1915 Class fund was enriched by over five dollars by the sale of pencils used during the afternoon.

NEWTON EQUAL FRANCHISE ASSOCIATION

The association will hold an informal meeting at the residence of Mr. Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Jr., 199 Temple St., West Newton, next Tuesday evening, April 15, at 8 o'clock. Rep. Geo. H. Ellis of Newton will speak on "Why I Oppose Woman Suffrage," and Mrs. Maud Wood Park will answer his objections.

NURSES' ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

At a meeting of the Newton Nurses' Alumnae Association, held at the Newton Hospital, April 9th, the question of location for a home for Graduate Nurses was discussed. The matter will be decided at the next meeting, May 7th. Any suggestions from the public would be gladly received by the Association.

GOOD ADVICE

Various proposals are appearing for the reorganization of the Republican party in this State, with a view to the State campaign in the autumn. Change of leadership, new issues and candidates, are included among the suggestions. But Beacon Hill offers an opportunity for the Republicans greater than any of these. The need there is for the development of party responsibility and the agreement upon a party program of legislation which will enable the Republicans to go before the people of the Commonwealth in their autumn campaign with a record of things done that would far outweigh in the public mind any statement of things promised.—Boston Transcript.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—An announcement that will be hailed with delight in the theatre world is that the wonderful Simian wonder who comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week after a triumphant tour of the world. He is without question the most wonderful chimpanzee that has ever been brought to this country. Peter dresses and undresses himself, eats with a knife and fork, runs a typewriter, rides the bicycle, roller skates, in fact does everything except talk. Peter's engagement is for one week only. He will be the feature of a wonderful show, among the big attractions being B. A. Rolfe's latest musical comedy, "The Purple Lady," with Ralph Lynn, Mercedes Lorenz, and a company of twelve pretty girls; Kimmann Brothers, up-to-date originalities; Robert Emmett Keene, the American Englishman; Spa Brothers, two wonderful European equilibristas; Those Four Entertainers, a great quartette of singers and funmakers; Searl Allen and his company of farceurs in a brand-new skit built for laughing purposes only; Jennings and Dorman, novelty entertainers; Pero and Wilson, acrobatic clowns, the wonderful Thomas A. Edison Kinetoscope or Talking Motion Pictures, with new subjects.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Acclaimed by both the press and public as the most wonderful organization that Boston has ever witnessed, the Irish Playboys, from the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, now playing at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, will begin on Monday next the fourth and final week of their engagement. Unless you propose to regret, for a long time, the biggest dramatic treat in years, you had better take advantage of these last remaining opportunities to witness this wonderful organization. To see them is to be happy that you did not miss them. The simplicity, life-like and unconventional quality of their plays is the treat offered at every performance. The astonishing ease with which the members assume portrayal of the various roles in deep tragedy and comedy has never before been demonstrated in Boston. The bill for the closing week will be the most interesting of the entire repertoire. The program will include several distinct changes.

PEPPER-BARBOR

The wedding of Miss Esther Harrod Barbour, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Barbour, and Mr. Benjamin Ward Pepper of Dorchester, took place last Saturday evening at the home of the bride on Montvale road, Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D. D., pastor of the First Church of Newton Centre, the house being attractively decorated with jonquills and marguerites for the occasion.

The bride was gown in white satin trimmed with duchess lace and carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies. She was accompanied by the maid of honor, Miss Florence G. Bryant of Hartford, Conn., wearing white charmuse with bead trimmings and carrying an arm bouquet of lilies. The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Pepper of Dorchester and Miss Alice Barbour of Newton Centre, were in apricot messaline and carried arm bouquets of tea roses. The ribbon girls were Helen White of Boston, Helen Elliot of Grafton, Eleanor Piper and Madeline Piper and Eleanor Raymond of Cambridge and Dorothy Pope of Brookline.

A reception followed until ten o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Pepper being assisted in receiving their numerous friends by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Barbour and Mr. and Mrs. Roderick A. Pepper, the presentations being made by the ushers, Messrs. MacGregor Tewksbury and Carlton Jacobs of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Pepper will reside at 27 Camden road, Aburndale, where they will be at home after May 15th.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—"Kismet," with Otis Skinner in the picturesque role of Hajj the Beggar of Bagdad, is now in the third week of its run at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston. The splendid impersonation given by the star, the perfect ensemble acting of the large company and the magnificent mounting provided by Klaw & Erlanger and Harrison Grey Fliske, have won the same enthusiastic praise in Boston as in New York, Chicago, and other American cities. In all his ambitious and successful career Mr. Skinner has never had a role so splendidly suited to his personality, his genius and his art as that of Hajj. The character invented by Edward Knoblauch, but based upon a number of characters to be found in the "Arabian Nights" is essentially romantic and vigorous, and yet is possessed of a human quality to the Beggar of Bagdad which endears him to the spectator in spite of his many and various crimes. Owing to the length of the performance and the magnitude of the production the curtain rises at 7.45 in the evening and at 1.45 at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

BOSTON THEATRE—The welcome that has been accorded Maclyn Arctur in "The Impassioned" at the Boston Theatre, the past two weeks shows that it has not lost a whit of its popularity, and the capacity audiences since the opening have been genuinely enthusiastic. The wild scenes of Western life appealed alike to the orchestra and the gallery, and proves even to a casual observer, that playgoers of all classes enjoy melodrama. Mr. Arctur's play is so impressive as some of the "thrillers." Play and players, however, give just the touch of unreal sentiment and heroic action that keeps the spectator keenly awake to the situations on the stage, and when a melodrama of this kind is acted by a company that gives it the swing and the vigor that makes melodrama convincing, for the moment, it is no wonder that all players accept it and are satisfied to think, for the time being, that they are looking at a picture of real life. In such a play the acting must be exaggerated to force home to the audience the lofty sentiments and undisciplined pathos which the playwright has liberally provided.

COLONIAL THEATRE—"The Chocolate Soldier," will be the attraction at the Colonial Theatre beginning Monday evening, April 14, for a limited engagement. It is no idle boast to predict that the throng of admirers who come to greet him will be fully as great as in other cities, for the charming warior never wears out his welcome. Elegance, richness and realism characterize every production made by Mr. Whitney, and "The Chocolate Soldier," as given this season is a superb example of Mr. Whitney's idea of an adequate production. One of the strongest features of the tour is the orchestra of picked musicians, many of whom are members of the original orchestra during the New York production of the opera, and under the leadership of Signor A. De Novella. A treat is in store for Boston theatregoers as the principal members of the original New York production will give Bostonians an opportunity of witnessing "The Chocolate Soldier" on the grand scale as characterized its famous New York run. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

THE DAYTON DISASTER

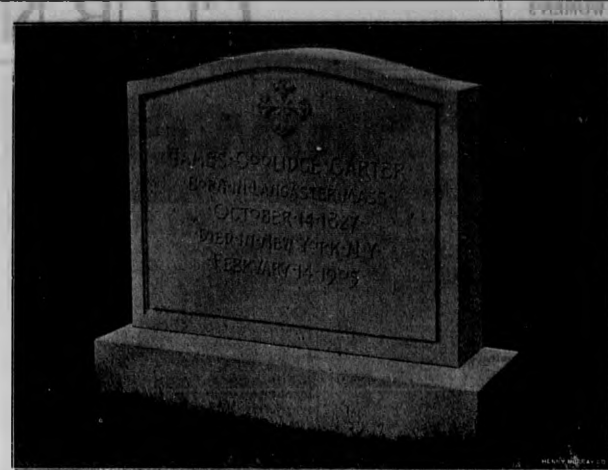

Mrs. Henry M. Burt of Charlesbank road has received a letter from a friend in Dayton, Ohio, in which conditions there are described as follows: "We are all safe, as Dayton View was too high for the water to reach us. Everybody was brought over here in boats, at least as far as the bridge, then an auto brought them to this side. The excitement has been intense, and the whole thing is beyond description. There is a gentleman here, that passed through the earthquake in San Francisco. As the result of that disaster there were more deaths, but from the standpoint of mental anguish and real suffering, the Dayton disaster exceeded that of the western city. The persons generally have exaggerated accounts of the terrible things, but they have not in this case. The homes over here were all thrown open to the sufferers, school houses turned into relief stations and hospitals. People were rescued from trees, roofs of homes and every conceivable place. Grand pianos were floating down the street, as well as autos, and furniture of every description, and all of it ruined. Business is at a standstill. Some have lost homes and all of their business, too. It is heartrending to hear of it, and to see it as we did this morning is to believe it. It makes one shudder to see the quantities of filth in the streets in the different parts of the city. It is being removed as fast as possible. We have not had any mails collected or delivered until now (April 4) or telegrams either."

ORGAN PROGRAM

The program of Mr. John Hermann Loud's ninth free organ recital next Monday evening in First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, is as follows:

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—At the Castle Square next week, John Craig will revive Oliver Goldsmith's famous English comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," which has not been given at that theatre for seven years. Its sparkling dialogue and humorous scenes will be cordially welcomed again, and it is remarkable that although written nearly one hundred and fifty years ago, they are as up to date as though they were the work of some twentieth century dramatist. For the Castle Square revival next week, Mr. Craig has selected a cast that includes William P. Carleton as Young Marlow, Carney Christie as Hastings, Walter Walker as old Hardcastle, Donald Meek as Tony Lumpkin, Al Roberts as Digory, and Mary Young as Miss Hardcastle. The coming week will be Miss Young's final appearance at the Castle Square this season, as she is contemplating a brief pleasure trip abroad before beginning her New York engagement in "Believe Me, Xantippe."

MR. TRUETTE HONORED

Notable Musical Services at Elliot Church Attended by Many Former Singers

Elliot Church Wednesday evening was the scene of the greatest musical triumph our city has ever experienced. The coming home of most of the soloists and chorus singers who have been connected with the unexcelled choir of this church, during Everett Truette's 15 years in its leadership was made the occasion to celebrate this event, which means so much to the musical culture of our city. Never was there such an array in any one event of the eminent soloists and singers who occupy the great church singing positions of Boston and vicinity, as occurred in this voluntary and enthusiastic recognition of Organist Truette's position in the musical world. The whole affair was worked up by them and culminated after one of the finest concerts ever listened to in our city in a social gathering where felicitations, congratulations and old acquaintanceships were renewed and hugely enjoyed. The choir seats were completely occupied by the seventy and more singers and the organ with its tremendous power and fine possibilities all made a combination that may never be possible again in concert history. The program arranged by Mr. Truette and rehearsed but once in this grand combination, was of the most character with the choicest selections from Gault's "Holy City," Menner's "Daughter of Jerusa," Rossini's "Stabat Mater" and the compositions of Gounod, Mendelssohn, Sullivan and Handel's Immortal "Hallelujah Chorus." The solo of Miss Knight sustained above the mighty chorus of the infamatus was as successful as Madame Parepa's in the Great Peace Jubilee, with its 10,000 chorus. Miss Briggs' contralto solo evinced her power and purity of voice. While Mrs. Frances Duntun (Wood) Brown proved her proficiency in song culture, what shall we say of those masters of song, Daniels, Stone, Cutler and Merrill? Their solos were simply entrancing, winning their culture, purity of voice and musical understanding. They were at home again. The Culus Animam by tenor Stone places him in the front rank in Boston and vicinity.

and the bass solo Pro Peccatis, both from the Stabat Mater, was sustained by Mr. Cutler with purity and robustness of voice of rare quality. "The Trumpet Shall Sound," by that basso profound Merrill captivated all. The chorus. Oh, my! The like never was before heard in Newton. Of course much was expected of such a colossal massing of powerful soloists and first-class chorus singers who have sung in this choir during fifteen years. It was just tremendously musical and fascinating. After all is done and said, it is great chorus singing that moves and thrills the harmonic being within us. Fine solo singing can be purchased if you have the stuff, but chorus singers are the result of long selection and careful culture and this magnificent ovation to Conductor Truette and concert proves that Elliot Church chorus seats ought to be kept full. The large audience were invited by the ladies of the church to adjourn to the parlors and meet the old choir members and partake of refreshments. Soloist Daniels invited Mr. Truette to the platform, and after reading many kind letters and testimonials from organists of note like Foote, Goodrich and lots of others, interspersed with jocosities that drew forth mirth, he introduced Organist Clement who presented the hero of the occasion with a huge bouquet of pinkies, made in the shape of an organ pipe. This was ended with the presentation of a very chaste and beautifully executed testimonial of embossed hand work finely framed. Mr. Truette's "Meditation and Allegro Symphonique Suite in G Minor" is one of the finest compositions of its kind, displaying as it does, all the finest possibilities of organ melody and rare imitations. It, of course, commanded an immediate encore. The harmonies of this occasion will long linger in memory's mysterious chambers, and prove an incentive to greater musical achievements and enjoyment if that be possible in our city. Those who were not there missed a treat of rarest excellence.

PORTRAIT OF MR. C. S. DENNISON

A portrait of the late Charles S. Dennison has recently been completed by Charles S. Parker. This likeness, which is pronounced very nearly perfect by all who knew Mr. Dennison, was painted after his death, which occurred last year, but the artist had the advantage of a long personal friendship with the deceased, and his work therefore marked by a faithfulness, the individual expression of the man that is often lacking in portraits not painted from life. Mr. Dennison was a man whose personal appearance corresponded very closely to his character, and the artist has brought out the intimate traits of his nature in a manner that must be exceedingly gratifying to those who knew his pulse, his gentleness, and his cheerful and sympathetic presence. The head is drawn with much skill and knowledge, and the expression is very lifelike and pleasant.

LODGES

Members of the Newton K. of C. have been discussing plans to re-organize the baseball team and it is hoped that the plans will be successfully carried out as a series of games at the Club would stimulate considerable interest and no doubt draw some good-sized crowds of Newton's baseball fans.

TREMONT TEMPLE—On Monday will begin the final week of the Kinemacolor pictures at Tremont Temple. The added scenes of the Inaugural and Suffragette Parades at Washington are giving diversity to the entertainment, while there is also little enthusiasm over the actual scenes pictured of the Balkan War and of the Making of the Panama Canal. A week from next Monday colored motion pictures by the Hochstetter process will be given a limited engagement in Tremont Temple. The subject will be the Life of John Bunyan and scenes from the Pilgrim's Progress.

FIRST DINNER

Men's Club of Grace Church Observes Its First Anniversary

The first annual dinner of the Men's Club of Grace Church was held Monday evening in the parish house, with an attendance which was most satisfactory. The dining room was most attractively decorated with roses, pink tulips, jonquills and Marguerites, a large bouquet of roses attracting the most attention. At the head table with Rev. Laurens MacLure, the rector and toastmaster, were ex-president Albert N. Bullens, Senior Warden Edward H. Cutler, Reverends John Matteson, Albert N. Slayton, Francis B. White, Richard T. Loring and James C. Sharp, and Messrs. Charles E. Riley, Sydney Harwood, and John H. Sellman. During the dinner services, the boys' choir rendered several selections in the adjoining library, Mr. Ralph Henry gave a splendid solo, which deserved the enthusiastic encore it received and a quartet composed of Howard Armstrong, James Townsend, William Hanson and Fay Roope pleased the diners with their music.

Mr. Bullens introduced Rev. Dr. MacLure as toastmaster and that gentleman filled the position like a veteran, altho he confessed that it was only the second time in his life that such an honor had come to him. Mr. Edward H. Cutler, the first speaker, gave an eloquent and interesting account of the nomenclature of the Episcopal Church and of the history of Grace Church. President Frank M. Barber urged the support of the men of the parish to make the club a success. Other speakers were Rev. Albert N. Slayton who spoke for the other parishes in the city, Rev. John Matteson who related the growth of the churches in Newton, Rev. Mr. Loring who spoke for "Our Next Neighbor" and Rev. Mr. Sharp who replied to the toast of the "Baby Parish."

The officers of the Men's Club are Frank M. Barber, president; Walter R. Forbush, vice-president; Theodore E. Jewell, secretary and treasurer, and A. N. Bullens, Wm. Hanson, Chas. H. Justice, Welles E. Holmes and H. H. Armstrong, executive committee.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Mrs. Lucius G. Pratt, Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Mrs. Samuel Pray, and Miss Elizabeth Potter, entertained the members of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., at the Pratt Homestead, 73 Highland street, West Newton, Monday afternoon, April 14.

In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. Charles D. Menervy, Miss Lucy E. Allen, Vice-Regent of the Chapter, presided. The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Earl Smith of West Somerville, gave a very interesting and sympathetic talk on the changes of child life from birth, to the age of fifteen. As Mrs. Smith had had a large experience with children, in connection with kindergarten work, in which she has been interested for several years, she was able to explain, very clearly, many of the peculiar phases through which the little people pass, and to give helpful advice to parents in meeting these situations with patience and understanding. Refreshments were served by daughters of members during the social hour, and music which was in charge of Mrs. Henry H. Haskell, added much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

D. R.

Sarah Hull Chapter Holds An Interesting Meeting

A meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., was held at the home of Mrs. O. M. Fisher, Franklin street, Newton, on Wednesday, April 16th. After the business session with the Regent, Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, presiding, a very enjoyable program was given, in charge of Mrs. George A. Salmon of Newton Highlands and consisted of a fine paper written by Agnes Warren Pope, a former chapter member, on "Progress of New England Music," read by Margaret Crandall Miller of Newton Highlands, illustrated by songs and piano selections as follows: "Washington's March," played by Miss Sarah Bagley, a duet, "Watchman tell us of the Night," sung by Miss Ruth Lucas and Miss Marion Roberts, a quartet consisting of Miss Beale Talbot Salmon, Mrs. Helen Locke Tewksbury, Miss Ruth Lucas, Miss Marion Roberts sang "The morning light is breaking, The Battle Cry of Freedom, Way down upon the Swannee River, and To Thee Oh Country."

A group of favorite old songs were acceptably rendered by Mrs. Helen Locke Tewksbury. Piano selections, Monastery Bells, and Battle of Waterloo were played by Mrs. Harold Shumway. Miss Beale Talbot Salmon of Newton Highlands who has just returned from study in Paris, under Oscar Seagle and George Hotchkies Street aroused great enthusiasm by her artistic rendering of a group of modern songs entitled Spirit Flower by Campbell-Piption, Daisies by Hawley, Birthday Song and Open Secret by Huntington Woodman. As encore Miss Salmon sang Home, Sweet Home, which was both appropriate and impressive. Mrs. Harold Shumway and Miss Sarah Bagley were the accompanists.

It was an honor to have with us the State Regent, Mrs. Susan M. Plummer who told us of the service to be held Friday, April 18th, from 8 to 8.30 P. M., at the Old North Church to commemorate Paul Revere's Ride. The site are to be pealed by English Bell Ringers before and after the service, which should be of interest to every D. R. After singing America a social hour was enjoyed. Much credit is due the hostesses who were Mrs. O. M. Fisher, Miss Mary I. Fox, Mrs. Henry S. Jenkins, Miss Mary M. Rich, Mrs. Geo. A. Salmon, Mrs. Harold H. Shumway.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting and supper of the Unitarian Society in West Newton was held Monday evening in the parish house. Supper was served at 6.30 by the Hospitality committee, of which Mrs. George H. Collyer was chairman, to about 125 members of the parish.

At the business meeting held later in the evening, Mr. George H. Ellis was chosen moderator and satisfactory reports were received from the various church organizations. The trustees reported that the attempt to raise the present mortgage resulted in pledges of over $8,300 and that the remaining $700 would be secured within a short time. Appropriations for $11,500 were made for church expenses and these officers elected: Trustee for 5 Years, Mr. James P. Tolman; Trustee for 2 Years to fill vacancy, Mr. George P. Bullard; Standing Committee, Messrs. Lawrence Bond, Charles A. Royce, Ellery Peabody, Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Mrs. Geo. R. Whitten; Clerk, Mr. William A. Young; Treasurer, Mr. Francis Newhall.

NEWTON DEMOCRATIC

Mitchell Carries City By 269 Over Cutting. White a Poor Third

The voters in the thirteenth Massachusetts district elected Hon. John J. Mitchell of Marlboro, Democrat, to represent them in the present Congress as the successor to Hon. John W. Weeks of Newton, who has recently been elected junior senator from Massachusetts. Mr. Mitchell received 13,134 votes to 8,742 for the Republican candidate, Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston, and 5,503 for Mr. Norman H. White of Brookline, Progressive, Newton, which has always cast a majority for Republican candidates, completely reversed itself and gave Mr. Mitchell a plurality of 269, his total being 2126 to 1857 for Cutting and 853 for White.

Republican workers all thru the city tell the same story of apathy and indifference by Republican voters and many instances where Republicans voted for Mr. Mitchell. The election was without incident, Newton casting about 70 per cent of its registration, the total vote being 4,867, and the returns were received remarkably early, the total result being announced at City Hall at 5.10 P. M. Denton, the Socialist candidate, received 11 votes in the city and 20 ballots were blank. Mr. Mitchell carried both precincts of ward 1 and of ward 4, and received a plurality of the votes in wards 2 and 3. Mr. Cutting carried wards 5, 6 and 7, the last ward being, as usual, the banner Republican ward of the city.

Some idea of the slump in the vote of Tuesday as compared with that of last November can be gleaned from the Congressional vote of last fall, viz: Weeks, 3357; Mitchell, 1541; Fiel, 1043. From these figures it will be seen that Mitchell increased his vote of November, the Republican vote was reduced nearly one-half while the Progressive vote lost about 20 per cent. Congressman-elect Mitchell was born in Marlboro, May 9, 1873. He was educated in the public schools and graduated from Boston College in 1895. He then studied law in Boston University and was admitted to the Middlesex bar. He has served in the both branches of the state legislature in 1903-1904-1905-1906.

The detailed vote was as follows:—

Wd.	1.	Pre.	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.	Total
1.	275	22	237	14	2	331	102	171	54	1487
2.	1	313	147	99	66	2	307	157	71	1857
3.	3	263	6	247	8	1	524	131	325	2126
4.	2	303	193	68	41	1	497	160	255	1857

"JEALOUSY"

The Newton Y. M. C. A. has just received its first legacy, which is also the beginning of a permanent fund the income of which will be used to help carry on Association work.

The legacy was given by Mrs. Abbie A. Hannaford, late of Newtonville avenue, Newton, who had lived in this city for many years, and whose death occurred two years ago. Mrs. Hannaford was always very much interested in young people and in the work of the Association. Her estate has just been settled, and the legacy, which is very welcome and greatly appreciated, becomes immediately available.

The trustees which will handle this permanent fund consist of Messrs. Frank A. Day, chairman, William T. Rich, treasurer, Allan C. Emery, Hiram E. Barker, James E. Clark, G. Fred Harwood, Francis Murdock, Charles E. Riley and H. A. Wilder.

HOUSE BURNED

The home of W. G. Starkweather, 17 Gibson street, Newtonville, was practically gutted by fire Sunday afternoon, entailing a loss of about $4000. The blaze started from an open fire in the sitting room, while the members of the family were away, and was burning briskly when a neighbor, Mr. Charles F. Atwood, discovered it. A still alarm was sounded, but when Hose 2 arrived the house was in flames and a bell alarm from box 25 was rung in vain.

Mr. Atwood managed to open the rear door but was unable to save anything of value until the apparatus arrived. The firemen succeeded in saving some of the contents of the first floor but nearly everything in the rooms on the second floor was destroyed. The only room not touched by the fire was the dining room on the first floor.

ANNUAL MINSTREL SHOW

On Tuesday evening, April 22nd, at the Hunnewell Club the Boy Choir of Grace Church will give the annual minstrel performance. The men and boys of the choir have been in rehearsal for many weeks, and the production of 1913 is expected to surpass the performance of previous years. The boys and men of the Circle have been superbly drilled, and the End Men promise songs and antics of rare finish. The performance will be followed by dancing.

A CLEVER NEW FEATURE OF THE WOODS

There's a new attachment in the Woods electric that switches on the interior lights of the car the instant you open the door. Instead of stumbling into a dark car you find your Woods bright and inviting, even on the blackest night. Closing the doors cuts off the interior lights. It's a simple thing but it's a convenience—and you know how you love convenience! This is one of the many unmistakable evidences of the close attention we give to the little things as well as the big ones in the production of "the perfect Woods" the car you are going to own some of these days. When are you going to take time to get acquainted with the Woods, inside and outside, top and bottom, fore and aft?

Why We Grow

This bank is growing steadily, and we attribute our progress mainly to these reasons:
Sound and progressive business methods in the bank's management; the active participation and co-operation of well-known business men in the conduct of its affairs; prompt and courteous attention to the wants of customers and a desire to satisfy them.
We intend to keep on growing by giving the same kind of service.

CONCERT

Gratifying success attended the concert of the Marlboro Trio, assisted by Miss Marie Bartlett, reader, given on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Lent-n-land Society in the parlors of the First Universalist Church. An exceedingly fine program of nine numbers was presented and each number was enthusiastically received by the large audience. The program included four well-rendered numbers by the Trio and the "Readings from 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm,'" dialect studies and the sketch "Rosa" by Miss Bartlett, contributed in no small measure to the excellence of the entertainment.

Miss Bartlett has not only a pleasing personality, but also that rare faculty of entering into the sympathy of her selections with a keen sense of both humor and pathos.

Miss Dorothy Chaplin who is the possessor of a very sweet soprano voice sang with excellent effect, "It is Not Because Your Heart is Mine," and "Goodbye," the latter with mandolin and cello accompaniment.

The Marlboro Trio is composed of Miss Mary Sprague, mandolin; Miss Marie Chaplin, mando-cello, and Miss Dorothy Chaplin, soloist and accompanist.

BLODGETT-LORING
Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Loring, Crescent avenue, Newton Centre, their daughter, Miss Marion Loring, Wellesley, '14, was married to Edwin Stanton Blodgett, Harvard, '12, of Lincoln, by Rev. Frederick M. Brooks, formerly pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd of Watertown.

Miss Ethel Loring, a sister, was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Carpenter Smith of Castine, Me.; Miss Katherine Brooks, Radcliff, '15, of Boston; Miss Harriet Blake, Wellesley, '14, of Omaha; Miss Genevieve Huntington, Wellesley, '14, of Newton Centre; Miss Dorothea Shute, Boston University, '14 of Newton Centre, and Miss Phyllis Brooks of Newton Centre. The best man was Warren K. Blodgett '24, a brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony the couple, assisted by their parents, the maid of honor and the best man held a reception in the living room of the house, which was profusely decorated with flowers. The ushers were Clayton Ernst, Harvard, '10, of Dorchester, Josiah Loring of Springfield, Henry E. Ohler, Harvard, '11, of Newton and Frederick Ernst, Harvard, '12, of Dorchester.

In business today, a man is not criticized because he may not be able to fill a higher position—it is only when he cannot, or does not do his own work that he is open to censure. Incompetence is the most deadly of business sins; for it there is no excuse—we do not pretend to a knowledge of any business but our own. But we know that, know it well enough to give a hard and fast guarantee.

ABOUT Coats

For whatever occasion a Coat or Wrap is required—and such occasions are manifold throughout New England—you will find the very one you need in your size right here in our well-regulated coat section.

We are constantly being informed that our assortment of Coats is larger than the combined stocks of the better grade Boston specialty houses.

Matelasse, wool and silk bengaline, wool and silk poplin, Bedford cord, broche, imported eponge, moire, faille, charmeuse and brocade silks are the new materials this season, as well as the ever-popular serges, mixtures, stripes and checks.

Your attention is particularly called to the fact, that while high quality is consistently maintained, the prices at which these beautiful garments are sold are unusually moderate, ranging from 16.75 to 110.00

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of Channing Alliance was held Tuesday in the Channing Church parlors. Reports were received from Mrs. Bridge of the Cheerful Letter Committee, Miss Emery, of the Post Office Missions and Mrs. Edward M. Moore of the Sewing Circle. Luncheon was served under the direction of Miss Clara Soule and a committee of ladies, and a program of music was rendered by the Alliance choir. In the afternoon, Mrs. Claude U. Gilson gave an interesting talk on "Alliance Work."

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Isabella W. Hardon, president; Mrs. Frederick W. Stone, Mrs. John P. Alden and Mrs. George M. Nash, vice-presidents; Mrs. Harry Lutz, recording secretary; Mrs. William A. Hammatt, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, treasurer. A tribute to Mrs. George M. Warren was read and her name was put on the Memorial List of the National Alliance.

That equal suffrage is a live question and one of the social and political questions of the day was shown by the two hundred members and guests of the Newton Equal Franchise Association who gathered Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Jr. in West Newton, to hear Representative George H. Ellis speak on his attitude toward the Suffrage Bill, recently acted upon in the House, and to listen to Mrs. Maud Wood Park's spirited reply to his objections. Mrs. Garrison presided. A number of questions were asked, and answered by the two speakers, revealing the most intense interest.

The Association will hold semi-monthly meetings until the end of the season.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service for Mr. Warren P. Tyler, who died Tuesday, April 1, was held Sunday by the Channing Sunday School. Remarks were made by the superintendent, Mr. Frank H. Burt, followed by personal tributes and reminiscences by Messrs. Henry C. Hardon, W. Russell Brackett, Charles F. Rogers, Henry W. Kendall and Rev. Mr. Lutz. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler came to Newton 55 years ago next July from Charlestown and entered at once into the work of the Sunday School, Mr. Tyler continuing in it as teacher and superintendent for nearly 30 years. His interest in the school never ceased and his last message of greeting was given through the minister at the Easter service, little more than a week before Mr. Tyler's death.

NEWTON HIGH WINS

Capt. Robert Spalding and his squad that will represent the Newton High School on the diamond this year made their initial appearance yesterday afternoon on Clifton field, Newtonville, and defeated the Roxbury Latin nine in a well-played game, 5 to 2. The unfavorable weather conditions of the last month proved a set back for the squad, but Coach Dickinson will have the men in excellent shape within a short time.

The team did not show up so strong as the former nines, which is due to the lack of practice. The men fielded in fair shape, but their batting was weak, but seven singles being made during the game for the home team and one less for the visitors. Newton was kept hitless until the fourth inning, when "Tip" O'Neil, a brother of the former high school star, connected for the first safe hit of the season, stole second and third, and scored when the opposing catcher muffed the third strike on Terrio. Terrio reached third on the play, and scored on the next ball, which got past the catcher. Newton scored another tally in the sixth, and on a single by White along the third base line in the seventh, Hyatt and Taffe both scored. Capt. Spalding pitched the first five innings for the home team, and showed much of his old time form. He was relieved by Conlon, who finished the game. Two runs were scored off the latter, when Wendell placed a pretty single to center with three men on bases.

Two spectacular catches were contributed by the local players, Ralph Hyatt nailing Holden's fly in the third after a long run, turning a complete somersault in doing so, and Harris taking a fly in foul territory in the fifth. The Newton lineup was as follows: O'Neil, 1b.; Bryson, 2b.; DeRusha, cf. and rf.; Terrio, cf.; Hyatt, 1b.; Wellman and Taffe, c.; White, 2b.; Harris, ss.; Spalding and Conlon, p.

BUSINESS MEN MEET

The first meeting of the recently organized Newton Business Men's Association was held Monday evening at the Newton Y. M. C. A. building with about fifty men present. Mr. Fred A. Hubbard, the president, introduced Hon. John H. Corcoran of Cambridge, president of the Mass. State Board of Trade, who gave an interesting talk on the advantages to be gained from such business organizations and gave the experiences of the merchants of Cambridge. An interesting discussion followed as to plans for future work, including better lighting of Nonantum square and the possible inauguration of a Bargain Day in the various stores in the village. The president and directors were authorized to take steps to have the old armory building torn down.

AIDS FLOOD SUFFERERS

A few weeks ago the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, responding to the general call for relief from the stricken West, sent the Red Cross Society $191, the proceeds of a special collection.

At the Wednesday evening meeting, April 16th, another special collection was taken and $305 more was sent to the flooded district for the relief of Christian Science organizations and families there—the Mother Church having sent a special representative there and found conditions much worse than originally reported.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Francis W. Hazelwood, a resident of this city for over forty years, died last Sunday at Pembroke, Mass., where he went two weeks ago.

Mr. Hazelwood formerly resided at the corner of Centre and Pearl streets, living there for over forty years, and when that house was torn down last summer, removed to Capitol street, Watertown. He was about 75 years of age, a native of Roxbury, and engaged all his life in the boot and shoe business. He was a member of Eliot Church and one of the oldest members of the Monday Club of Newton. Modest and retiring by nature, his friendship was greatly prized by all who knew him. He is survived by a widow.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Forest Hills Cemetery Chapel, Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot Church officiating.

NEWTON CLUB

In spite of the inclement weather, there was a good attendance at the Matinee Bridge on Wednesday last. It was in charge of Mrs. Carl F. Schipper, Mrs. Raymond Tucker, Mrs. Harold B. Sherman, and Mrs. Chas. A. Cotton.

Highest scores were made by Mrs. Henry J. Nichols, Mrs. C. A. Cotton, and Miss Jennie Cheney.

On Wednesday evening, April 23rd, there will be a dance and bridge. The matrons for the former will be Mesdames Wm. C. Bamburgh, Chas. W. Ryder, and Louis I. Schreiner. Ladies receiving at bridge will be Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, Mrs. Henry A. Young and Mrs. J. Everett Hicks.

CHARLES WARD POST

An evening of rare enjoyment was passed at the annual banquet of the members of Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R., which took place last evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville. The members of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, No. 2, D. of V., and J. Wiley Edmunds Camp, 31, S. of V., joined hands with the comrades in the event, as did a large gathering of comrades from the surrounding Posts.

Commander J. O. Perkins was the toastmaster of the evening. One of the guests was William T. Logan of Newton Highlands, who was a member of the Confederate forces during the Civil War, and that the hand of good fellowship was outstretched to him was known by the warm reception that was tendered him at the conclusion of his address. Mr. Logan was a member of the 5th Georgia Regiment, and told in a very interesting manner how and why he joined the Gray army.

The musical program rendered consisted of several selections by grand opera stars on the graphophone of Comrade John Flood, and also selections which were particularly adapted for a meeting of the G. A. R. veterans. Edna Knight, one of the best known entertainers in Newton, very pleasingly rendered "The Boy Who Stuttered" and the Girl Who Lapsed, and "I Got the Mumps." In a pianologue and accompanied Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley when she sang "She's the Daughter of the G. A. R." and "In the Good Old United States." Another yearly feature, which is looked forward to with much pleasure by the members of the organizations was the selections rendered by the Charles Ward Post Quartet, consisting of C. C. Patton, first tenor; W. A. Wetherbee, second tenor; James E. Reed, first bass and W. H. Partridge, second bass. The members of the quartet were accompanied by Comrade William H. Pearson.

—The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Congregational Church held an Easter Luncheon in the church parlors Wednesday. A very fine luncheon was enjoyed by a large number of ladies.

LADIES' NIGHT

Over 100 members and guests attended the annual Ladies' Night of the Unitarian Club, at Channing Church parlors last evening. The speaker was Rev. Abraham M. Rihany of the Church of the Disciples, who gave an address of remarkable interest and timeliness, on "Turkey in her Evening Twilight." Speaking from first hand knowledge through experiences of his own boyhood in Syria, Mr. Rihany gave vivid pictures of the appalling conditions which have existed wherever the Turk has ruled. Abdul Hamid he pronounced the most bloodthirsty ruler known in all history, having sacrificed not less than 65,000 lives, as near as can be estimated, in the course of his reign.

Miss Crystal Waters of Cambridge, soprano, with Mrs. Dudley Flitts of Worcester as accompanist, sang groups of songs before and after the lecture. Her selections included English, French, German and Italian songs and her clear voice, perfect enunciation and delicacy of expression made their rendering most delightful. Light refreshments were served after the conclusion of the program.

MADAME NORDICA
 Madame Lilian Nordica, the great singer that America has yet produced and undoubtedly the most popular singer of her time, will give her only recital of the season in Symphony Hall next Sunday afternoon, April 20, at half past three. She has arranged a most delightful program. There will be three groups of songs, one in English, one in French and one in German. In addition to these she will sing Schubert's "An die Musik," the great air from Handel's "Samson," "Let the bright Seraphim" with trumpet obligato and an air from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" and the program will be ended with "La Ballade du Desespere," the words of which are by Henri Murger and the music by Bemberg. This is for voice and recitation, accompanied by violin, cello and piano.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

The prominent feature of the General Federation Magazine for April is the program of the Council meeting to be held at Washington beginning on Monday of next week, April 21, and continuing through Thursday. There will be a reception at the White House on Monday afternoon at 2.30. The opening session comes on Monday evening and will be given up to addresses of welcome by the presidents of the District and Maryland Federation and a response by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, President of the General Federation. Tuesday will be occupied with reports from the officers, the Council committee, and from many of the departments. On Wednesday, further reports and discussion of vital matters relating to the Federation will fill up the day, while in the evening a visit will be made to the Congressional Library under the direction of the Literary Clubs. Thursday's session will be held by invitation of the Maryland Federation at Baltimore, and will include luncheon at the Baltimore Country Club. Returning to Washington for the evening, the Chicago Editorial will be the subject of discussion and the meeting will close by the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds." A number of the Newton club women are to attend this Council meeting.

Local Announcements.

On Monday afternoon, April 21, the Waban Woman's Club will meet in the Union Church vestry, where Mrs. Anna Sturgis Duryea will give a lecture on "Anticipating the Third Hague Conference."

On April 21, Mrs. G. W. Barker of Duncklee street will be the hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club. Mrs. George A. Sweetser will lecture on "The Legal Status of Women."

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands will meet with Mrs. A. F. Hayward of Centre street on Monday, April 21.

On Tuesday morning the Auburn Review Club will hold its annual meeting at the Brae Burn Club after which luncheon will be served.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club Mr. Leon Darnum will give an illustrated lecture on "The Child Worker of the Street." Guests may be invited.

The Pierian Club will meet with Mrs. Gallison of Everett on Wednesday afternoon, April 23.

On Friday morning, April 25, the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its annual meeting at the Woodland Park Hotel followed by a luncheon.

Local Happenings

"The last regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held in Players' Small Hall on Friday, April 11, at 2.30 P. M. Mrs. Everett Starr Jones, presiding.

The program was in charge of the Hospital Committee, Mrs. George D. Byfield, chairman.

Dr. Francis George Curtis, chairman of the Newton Board of Health, and a member of the staff of the Newton Hospital, spoke on "The Work of a Board of Health."

Dr. Curtis gave information of much value. He suggested a concerted movement to clean up back yards, manure pits and all places where dirt and rubbish gather, thus helping toward eliminating diseases incidental to the warm months. Flies and mosquitoes are vehicles for the spread of disease. The stable fly somewhat resembles the house fly. It shows itself early in the spring, grows in numbers as the summer advances, and continues into autumn after the house fly has begun to disappear. It breeds in fermenting heaps of grass or straw, especially in manure, even in garbage; excessive moisture is especially favorable for the development of the larvae. Many cases of acute infantile paralysis have been found, associated in every instance with the presence of the stable fly, or stomoxys. A general campaign against the stomoxys and mosquitoes, which are equally to be dreaded, should be begun.

The milk question is another serious problem to be considered, as it is a good culture for typhoid and other contagious germs. Special danger lies in the fact of the length of time usually elapsing before it reaches its destination, 36 to 72 hours in the case of Boston. Newton is to be congratulated in that her supply of milk is usually delivered within 24 hours.

If the citizens of Newton would cooperate with the health authorities in cleaning up, removing and destroying all rubbish, the number of flies and mosquitoes would be lessened, thereby benefitting the health of the general public.

The federated clubs of Newton would make a fine working organization for such a movement.

A group of songs delightfully rendered by Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Gorton, closed the afternoon's entertainment.

Mrs. Frances Nowers, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Harry Wells, Mrs. Chas. E. Quinn, Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield, Mrs. M. E. Beardsley and Mrs. Ashenden.

At the last meeting of The Monday Club of Newton Highlands held at the home of Mrs. Drowne on April 14, Mr. Joseph Spargo, Italian Secretary of the Civic League of North America, gave a most interesting talk of the moulding to ideas of good citizenship, that the League gives Italians fresh from their own country. The secretary and his helpers meet the trains from Ellis Island at the South Station and use every means for protecting them from the harmful influences that immigrants have heretofore found upon entering a strange country. Once here, the League strives to protect, to educate them to new ideas of citizenship and living, and to make them leaders of their people, so that they may take their place in society. Mr. Spargo said he would not call them all ignorant immigrants, for many of them, especially those from northern Italy have had education at home. Rather they are ignorant of our customs. He, himself, has been in this country but a few years, but he is a graduate from an Italian University. Miss Sternberger rendered some beautiful piano music to the delight of those present. After the recess Mr. Spargo by special request gave a brief resume of the modern history of Italy.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met with Miss Anna Thompson. Mrs. Hardy was in charge of the work. The closing scenes of Paracelsus were read and discussed. This poem was written by Browning when he was twenty-three years old and is said to be the key to all his works, containing, as it does, his great central teaching, the theory of life. It is a confessional poem relating not only to Paracelsus, but also to Browning himself. It has nothing to do with any specific time or place, but belongs to the country of the soul.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild met on Tuesday at one-thirty for luncheon, followed by the Social Committee of the club, and it is to be congratulated upon the success of its undertaking.

At the close Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, president of the Guild, acted as toastmistress, proposing four toasts. The first, "To the Social Committee" was responded to by Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, then followed a "Response from the Committee," by Mrs. C. A. Prosser.

"To Our New Members" was responded to by Mrs. H. H. Carter and Mrs. Mary R. Martin replied to the toast, "The Up-to-date Woman's Club." Then followed the business of the annual meeting, reports of officers and committees, and the election of officers. While the ballots were being counted there was a musical program including songs by Mrs. G. R. Puleifer, accompanied by Mrs. A. P. Carter, and violin obligato by Mrs. R. P. Loring. Mrs. A. D. Sallinger recited a lullaby to a musical accompaniment. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Mrs. Samuel Thurber, Jr., Mrs. F. W. Pray, Mrs. J. L. Jefferson, Mrs. W. O. Hunt, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Maynard Maxim, Mrs. C. W. Rolfe, Mrs. T. A. Hildreth, Mrs. John F.

Brant, Mrs. W. A. Corson, Mrs. W. S. Higgins; Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. J. Fessenden; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Julia A. Butler; Clerk, Mrs. Nathaniel Adams; Treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Byers; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Lincoln Righter; Auditor, Mrs. F. J. Hartshorn; Chairman of Finance, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins; Directors, Mrs. J. G. Anderson, Mrs. G. F. Kimball.

Mrs. Palmer accepted the election for a second time with humorous remarks. Mrs. E. C. Adams spoke a word of appreciation of the services of the retiring corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. W. Thayer to which Mrs. Thayer responded.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning Mrs. Fred H. Tucker spoke upon "The Inland Waterways of the United States." Mrs. Tucker described them and treated their conditions, the proposed remedies and their comparative value. She spoke of the recent floods and the interest they have aroused in the subject. The provisions of the Newlands Bill, which was defeated last year, was discussed and Mrs. Tucker said that word from Washington stated that so much interest in it had been aroused by the floods, that it was almost impossible to secure any literature of any value upon this bill. Similar propositions have been before Congress in previous years and even though they have been defeated, it is quite probable that something of the sort will be passed in the future.

The annual business meeting of the Newton Centre Women's Club followed a lunch at the Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton on the afternoon of April 10th. The reports of the officers and committees for the year 1912-1913 were read, and the officers for the year 1913-1914 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Frank H. Stewart; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Morton E. Cobb, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sumner Clement, Corresponding Secretary, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Smith, Auditor, Mrs. F. E. Banfield. There were one hundred and forty present.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will hold its annual meeting at the home of Miss McCann on Saturday, April 26.

On April 12 Mrs. Herbert Drew was hostess for the Shakespeare Club and Mrs. E. J. Smith was in charge of the work. Mrs. S. Keith explained the growth of Shakespeare as in his handling of the mob, from a farce in King Henry VI, the vacillating stage in Julius Caesar to tragedy in Coriolanus. Mrs. S. L. Eaton contrasted the love of Romeo and Juliet with that of Antony and Cleopatra. In the latter it is the woman that attracts, not the vice. Miss McCann gave a synopsis of Shakespeare's characters of envy and their ill effect. Mrs. Blecknell gave illustrations showing that Shakespeare did not allow evil deeds to triumph, but brought victorious forces to bear against them, as Banquo and MacDuff on Macbeth and Octavius against Antony. Mrs. Drew contrasted the downfall of King Richard III and that of Macbeth, one due to bitterness over his deformity, the other to ambition. Mrs. W. E. Moore explained the difference between Shakespeare's rhetorical use of language in the earlier plays and the dramatic or impassioned, in the later ones, illustrating with passages showing his growth in mental activity and beauty of expression. The afternoon was a complete review of the winter's work and was very full of interest.

WOMAN'S ATHENAEUM

In our advertising columns will be found a notice of the fourth lecture to be given under the auspices of the Woman's Athenaeum. The lecturer is Bertha Everet Morgan, a lady whose talents are well known and much appreciated in this district. The subject of the lecture is "Ornament and Dress, Costume and Character." During the course of the lecture, Miss Morgan will give a short dramatic reading. Complimentary tickets may be had at the hall the afternoon of the lecture.

LETTER FROM AFRICA

Newton Man Gives Interesting Account of Travels in Little Known Countries

Tunis, March 15, 1913.

Editor Newton Graphic:

The approach to Tunis by sea is rather uninteresting,—your steamer sailing slowly along a rather narrow ship canal for five miles from the bay of Tunis to the public dock; and this dock is the outer boundary of a large area of filled land reclaimed from the lagoon. As you pass up the canal you see to the north the curious "two horned" mountain—Bil-Kurnein—looking for all the world like a piece of pie from the apex of which a hungry boy had taken a generous bite; but this bite out of the top of the mountain has of course left a huge crescent shaped gap and the Musselmans think this a peculiarly significant landmark for a great city of that faith of which the crescent is the symbol. To the southwest forty miles away towers the mountains of Zaghan from which old Carthage obtained its water supply as does the Tunis of today.

It is only about forty years that the French have possessed Tunisia and yet from the moment you land you are impressed with the marvellous work they have done here. Before they came the lazy waters of the lagoon flowed clear up to the Arab city; and now there is here a clean, thrifty, flourishing French city with broad streets—one great avenue two hundred feet wide—lined with shops and cafes; a rather fine cathedral, a big municipal casino, and a good theatre where just now a company from Milan is presenting grand opera every other night to appreciative and enthusiastic audiences taxing the capacity of the house. It is in this section that the hotels are situated. This appears to be the height of the season and all the houses are full. I can speak with authority only of the one at which I am staying, the "Tunisia Palace," the largest here; food and service beyond criticism, and at what seems a reasonable price, eighteen francs per day, including everything. And I hear of comfortable hotels where one may get a pension rate as low as eight francs per day.

The weather is as nearly perfect as one could wish; a succession of sunny days and wonderful blue sky; like our best days of early June. Carriage hire here is cheap, and the horses and carriages unusually good. Our first day we drove to the beautiful Belvedere park, over smooth roads in a fine rubber-tired Victoria, behind a spanking pair of gray horses, and the price was forty cents per hour!

This Belvedere Park lies a couple of miles north of Tunis, is two hundred and fifty acres in extent, and with excellent roads winding gradually to its highest part from which a magnificent view of Tunis is obtained. The park is not much wooded, and excepting for the roads appeared to have been left pretty much in its natural condition, but it is now the beginning of the blossoming season, and you ride through great fields yellow with golden Marguerites, great patches of orange marigolds, and many other beautiful flowers of which I do not know the names.

Part way down the hill slope and on the side toward the city is located a big summer casino, and when the city casino closes, all the attractions are transferred to this; a good band plays twice daily; light entertainments given; and here those who have to stay in Tunis during the summer come for their refreshment and recreation, and to escape the terrific summer heat. A friend of mine who has lived here many years, tells me stories of the heat which the siroccos, the wind from the desert, brings, that are almost unbearable; he has seen the mercury rise to 140 degrees, when the summer siroccos, blows its worst there is nothing to do but stay close in doors; no European dars expose himself; but the Arab life goes on as usual. My friend puts it mildly when he says, "Yes, the Tunis summer is both oppressive and depressive."

But it isn't this comfortable French city of parks and shops and hotels that you and I have come here to see. When you look down from the Belvedere pavilion on the great white city at your feet crowned by the Kaabah hill and dominated by the bubbling domes of the mosque of Mehoag and tried to count the slender minarets from which the faithful are called to prayers. It was to the mysterious old city of the Mahomedans that your thoughts were turned, a great city of thrilling life utterly unchanged from the time of the "Thousand Nights and a Night." And so no matter how long is your stay in Tunis, you will spend many hours of each day in the narrow tortuous streets of the Arab city and in the delightful mazes of the souks. "Souk" means market, but not only is this the great market-place of the various trades, occupations and professions, but it is also the great manufacturing place as well. Here is a square mile or more of narrow streets covered with roofs of masonry, wood, or painted glass to protect them from sun and rain, and on these streets countless numbers of little shops, each locality being devoted to the manufacture and sale of some particular commodity; souks of the shoemakers, souks of the weavers, the dyers, the carpenters, the silver-smiths, the bookbinders, the perfumers, the saddlers, and so on, covering all the trades and occupations that are required to supply the necessities and luxuries of a great people. And all the making done by the same hand methods and the same primitive machinery as was used, hundreds, yes thousands of years ago. And this busy hive, peopled with Arabs of all shades of colors and all hues of dress. Really to see the souks of Tunis would take months, and most tourists have only days to give. I spent the whole morning in the souks of the shoe makers one day, and came away with the feeling that there was much that I had failed to see. All these shops are very much alike, and there are, I should think, more than a hundred; each shop is of one single room opening from the little street, the floor being raised three feet, or so, so that the occupants have to partly swing themselves by the aid of a rope up and into these places. Many of these little shops make apparently exactly the same sort of shoe or slipper, and yet each shop is a complete factory. The workmen, including the proprietors, numbers no more than five or six and this includes a boy or two, some seeming to be not more than four or five years old. Each workman performs a separate part of the shoe-making. One cuts the goat skin, brightly dyed a canary yellow, into pieces for the uppers; another cuts the cowhide soles, a third sews the uppers to the soles, another does the ornamental stitching, and the little boys fetch and carry and do the simple parts. All hand work, but good workmanship and materials and sold at what seems a low price, say three francs for a pair of gorgeously colored, but very serviceable shoes! And yet there are many curious things connected with the making of that Arab shoe. You notice that they use no paste in sticking the lining to the upper; "God gave us flour to eat, not to walk upon," the Arab says, so as a substitute for a reasonable price, a piece of cow's spleen, which is peculiarly dried, exudes a mucilaginous matter which sticks like glue. He never uses the hide of a horse, because the horse is to him a noble animal, and no part of him must ever be put to a base use.

Tunis is a great fez market. No one seems to know why these red skull caps, each with a hanging tassel of silk or linen are called "fezes." To the Arab they are "Chechla" and from Tunis they go by the hundreds of thousands to the followers of the Prophet all over Africa. Their manufacture is very interesting. The caps are first knitted from pure and fine wool to a size more than twice the size of the finished fez. This knitting is done by the Arab women in their homes. Then they are taken to the little work shops in the souks, a considerable section being devoted to this manufacture. The knitted caps are soaked in a preparation of special soap and water, which shrinks them to half their original size, and they are dried on forms or blocks. Then the process of "teasing"—that is, raising the nap, begins. It is of course all done by hand, vegetable "teazles" being used, at first coarse ones and then finer as the fez nears completion. It takes about one hour and a half of hard work to convert the roughly knitted cap to a firmly finished article that looks as if it were made of heavy felt of pure white. Now they are taken to the street of the dyers and dipped in a red vegetable dye of varying color depending on the part of Mohamed's country to which they are going, Egypt for instance, demanding a dark ox blood color, while Tunisia and Tripoli want a rich red heart red. Then back to the souks they are brought, dripping wet from the dye tub; a pile of wet fezes is put before the workman, and one by one they are taken and smoothed and evened and coaxed toward the final shape; then they are twice folded, put between two pieces of board, and become the top layer of the seat on which the workman is perched so that the weight of his body may press them, and as the top boards are inserted the ones at the very bottom are removed, the caps again carefully examined and defects remedied, and they are then packed in big hand screw presses, several of which stand outside the door of each little shop; all that then remains to be done is to put on the long flowing tassel, and the fez is ready for the market, maybe to travel a thousand miles across the Sahara to far away Timbuctoo.

I would like to tell you of the souks of the saddlers, wonderful workers in leather, and of the weavers, with their clumsy hand looms looking hundreds of years old, of the curious workers in silver and brass, the makers of hair cloth and of ropes, the streets where you see them still making the primitive plow, of a single sharp stick shod with iron, but my space is filled.

Here in this curious corner of the old world Time seems to have stayed its hand and the looks, the habits, the customs of these people are practically unchanged from those of centuries ago.

THEATRES

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—On next Monday Miss Horniman's Company, from the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester, England, will begin a limited engagement of two weeks only at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. The Manchester Players will present a repertory of plays by the leading English dramatists of the day. The opening bill will offer, for the first time in Boston, Arnold Bennett's delightful comedy, "What the Public Wants." This piece is said to be the most successful of this author's work. The play is in the nature of a satire—a satire characterized by good nature, geniality, and keen penetration—on the modern daily newspaper and its methods. It will be repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Thursday matinee. In order that out-of-town patrons may enjoy the astonishing achievements of this notable aggregation, the management have decided to give Wednesday matinees, in addition to the regular Thursday and Saturday matinees. The bill for the first Wednesday matinee will be "The Rivals." For Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee John Galsworthy's "The Silver Box," will be the offering.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Klaw & Erlanger and Harrison Gray Fiske's superb production of Edward Knoblauch's "Arabian Nights" drama, "Kismet," with Orla Skinner in the stellar role, is now in the fifth week of its very successful run at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston. Beyond its literary worth, "Kismet" is a play that provides almost every sort of theatrical entertainment. The plot is intensely dramatic, concerning the many and various adventures of Hajj the beggar of Bagdad, who lived in that gorgeous Oriental capital one thousand years and one year ago. Mr. Skinner's portrayal of this character is his greatest achievement so far in his long and successful career. In staging the play, Mr. Fiske called into service seven of the most prominent scenic artists in America, each of whom designed and executed a setting, and he personally supervised the production to the smallest detail. Owing to the length of the performance, the curtain rises promptly at 7.45 o'clock in the evenings, and at 1.45 o'clock at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Majority and Minority Reports On Druggists Licenses

The following reports on the sixth class liquor question were made last Monday evening to the board of aldermen. The majority report was signed by Aldermen A. W. Blakemore, F. M. Blanchard, A. B. Rice and H. W. Jar-

Majority Report

The majority of your franchise and license committee herewith submit its recommendation on the question of granting 6th class licenses in the City of Newton for the coming year. Your committee has endeavored by correspondence, personal interviews, and to find out what changes, if any, could be made, and how many should be made, and to this end have sought to learn how changes that have been suggested have worked in other localities in which they have been tried. We have received a large volume of correspondence from other communities that have dealt with this problem, which combined with the individual experience of the committee and the information that has been gained in the several public hearings, have proven of great value in making up our decision. The result of our investigations are as follows: (1) We find that the Druggists as a whole have endeavored to meet and fairly meet the question well as it is possible for them to do under the existing law.

This fear has not been warranted to any appreciable extent. Conclusive evidence has been submitted to your committee from the law enforcing officers from most of the no-license cities who do not grant 6th class licenses. That the change has been followed by a marked decrease in sales of liquor by Druggists, a substantial reduction in the number of arrests for drunkenness and little abuse by either doctors or Druggists.

(7) We learn from wholesale dealers and others that the liquor purchased by drug stores is not of the best quality in many cases. Being bought in small quantities and through a middleman, there are too many profits to allow the Druggist to sell at a reasonable price and carry the best liquor.

(8) We find that a large proportion of all the no-license cities and towns grant no 6th class licenses and that of the 15 no-license cities 6th class licenses are granted only in four, including Newton.

(9) We find that there is a strong and growing sentiment among our citizens, for a change from the 6th class to the 4th class license, and we believe for the foregoing reasons, this change will be for the best interest of our city. We believe that this change should be made now and urge you to vote that no 6th class licenses shall be granted this year in Newton.

Minority Report

In dissenting from the majority report of your committee, I wish to record my dissent in one particular only, at the same time indicating my reasons for assenting to the majority report in all but this particular.

The law in reference to 6th class liquor licenses was passed, in my judgment, to permit No-license communities to have one or more places where liquor could be purchased for medicinal, mechanical or chemical purposes, without putting the citizens to an expense for a doctor's prescription, this being intended as a privilege to the citizens and an exemption from the sentiment of the community in reference to the sale of intoxicating liquor. It is in no sense intended as a privilege or benefit to the druggists of such community. The law was made mandatory in form in order to assure to citizens this privilege not with the bitter opposition known to exist in certain communities against the sale of intoxicating liquor for any purpose by certain classes of our citizens.

It is the duty of this board, as advised by our city solicitor, to issue at least one such license in the city of Newton, provided this board can find a druggist in the city fit to exercise such license. Whether this is a good law or a bad law is not for our board to pass upon. If a bad law, the citizens of this Commonwealth through its Legislature, will and can take care of that question. Whether this license should be in one community or another is incidental to our obeying this law and if we find that there is more than one of the druggists fit to obey this law, and we find that for the best interests of our city one only would be granted, then we should honestly get

REVERSE POLICY OF A GENERATION

Aldermen Refuse to Grant Sixth Class Licenses to the Druggists

By an almost unanimous vote on Monday evening the board of aldermen reversed the policy of more than a generation and refused to grant the usual quota of sixth class liquor licenses to druggists in this city. The matter has been agitated for over a year by a large and influential body of citizens and the result of their efforts is best indicated by the fact that the vote against granting most of these licenses was 19 to 1.

Incidental to the main issue of druggists' licenses was that of granting permits to transport intoxicating liquors into the city, where three aldermen voted consistently against granting such permits to all applicants and were joined by three others on four of the petitions.

The fact that these matters were to be acted upon that evening brought out quite a throng of spectators, most of whom had been prominent in the movement against sixth class licenses, and there were many favorable comments of the result.

President Blakemore was in the chair and all the members, save Alderman Hatch, were present.

No one appeared at the hearings assigned upon keeping gasoline by Mrs. M. E. Sweet, Eldredge street, Leon B. Rogers, Lenox street, H. H. Hubbard, Washington street, A. D. Wheeler, Homer street, on widening corner Howard and Bellevue streets, and on laying a concrete sidewalk under the betterment act on Watertown street, Ward 2, and orders were subsequently adopted granting these several matters.

Mayor Hatfield, who was an interested spectator of the debate on the liquor question, sent in communications stating that the appropriation for public convenience stations on the playgrounds was deemed insufficient by the Playground Commission, recommendations from the Buildings Commission relative to amendments to ordinance regulating billboards, and relative to claim of C. D. Kelsier, and request for transfer of $550 by the Fire chief.

The Street Commissioner submitted the usual recommendations for street sprinkling during the year. The Arbor day proclamation of Gov. Foss was filed.

An invitation from T. D. Murphy to attend a public reception to Congressmen-elect Mitchell was accepted. Petitions of James W. Fenno for an auctioneer license, of J. O. Smart for carriage and wagon licenses and of the N. & W. Gas Light Co. to open certain streets were granted.

Other petitions were received from Michael Hughes for a junk license, Campbell et al to lay out Rockland street, E. A. Robinson for sewer in Ardmore road, Ardmore terrace, Hyman Melman for a junk license, King et al for concrete sidewalk, Kaposis street, Riverside Recreation Grounds to enter sewer at Riverside, Telephone Co. for attachments on Cottage street, and for postponement of payment of sewer assessments, Eliza D. Howard for abatement of sewer assessment Claremont avenue, Sarah F. Ivy protest against sewer assessment, J. H. Sargent for personal damages, and Florence E. Knowles for intelligence office license.

A hearing was given upon protest of Marcy et al against Edison Co. poles on Saxon road. Mr. Grosvenor D. W. Marcy and three other residents objected to poles already erected on the ground that sufficient notice had not been given them.

The usual batch of licenses, favorably reported by the committee were then granted as follows:

The debate on granting sixth class liquor licenses was opened by the reading of the majority report of the committee opposing granting all applications and the minority report of Alderman Bartlett, opposing all but one application, both reports being given in full elsewhere.

The committee reported unanimously against granting 14 of the 21 petitions and a majority opposed granting the other seven. Alderman Cox being recorded in favor of the three druggists in Ward 3, Alderman Jones in favor of the two druggists in Auburndale, and Alderman Bartlett favoring the vote on Wagon and being excused from voting on the petition of G. A. Edmonds of Newtonville.

Alderman Jarvis spoke in favor of the majority report saying that under the 6th class, liquor sales are decreased, while under the 4th class they are made easy and are not consistent with the vote of a No-license city. He quoted Rev. Fr. Kelly of Newton in the course of rum drinking, mentioned the action of the Catholic churches of Brookline in opposing this very issue in that town and said that the Protestant churches were also strongly against this class of license. He quoted one druggist as having two kinds of liquor, side by side, one for medicinal use the other for a beverage, and told of one man who had become a hopeless drunkard on drug store liquor. He believed that very little inconvenience would result from refusing these licenses and that a great deal of harm might be avoided.

Alderman Murphy said that despite the vocal threats of those opposing sixth class licenses, the aldermen had a duty to perform, in the interests of temperance and morality. Newton has a liquor problem and it should be treated in a broad manner. He stated that he had no personal interest, as he had always been a total abstainer, but he knew that it would be impossible to control the liquor habit by legislation. It should be satisfied under the best kind of supervision—the 6th class license. He said that while the remonstrants had called attention to the increase of 20 per cent in liquor sales they had neglected to mention that arrests for drunkenness in the same time had decreased 17 per cent, and he challenged anyone to point to any city which was in better condition. He predicted that with a change in handling the liquor problem, kitchen barrooms would spring up, men would be driven to drinking raw alcohol, Jamaica ginger and essences, which not only make them drunk, but drive them insane. He believed the remonstrants were composed of two classes, one honest and conscientious in its efforts to prohibit liquor, while the other, while asking the aldermen to refuse these licenses, kept liquor in their own homes. This class he believed were far more hypocrites than the men who signed the druggists' book in buying liquor.

Alderman Winslow said that Newton clearly indicates each year that it opposes liquor sales in drug stores and it is admitted that a large part of these sales are not under the law, but are for use as a beverage. Newton should not be content to remain where it is, but should be a long way in the lead of others on this matter, and this step will undoubtedly diminish the evil.

Alderman Bemis and Jamieson also spoke in opposition to granting the licenses and a roll call was then ordered on each applicant for 6th class licenses, resulting in a vote of 19 to 1 (Alderman Murphy) on the names of J. G. Kilburn, H. G. Martin, J. H. Green, J. J. Noble, Arthur Hudson, B. M. Burke, Alex. Fox, W. M. Quinlan, J. T. Waterhouse, Wm. Hahn, H. G. Spaulding, W. E. Mars, J. F. Payne, G. W. Hunt, W. A. Palne, and W. G. Colligan and G. A. Edmonds: a vote of 18 to 2 (Alderman Murphy and Jones) on E. W. Keyes and W. A. Thorn, a vote of 18 to 2 (Alderman Murphy and Bartlett) on G. H. Rhodes and a unanimous vote against P. J. E. Lacroix, who had no certificate of fitness.

When the list of applicants for wagon licenses and liquor transportation permits was considered, Alderman Rice stated that he had differed from the majority of the committee in granting these permits on four applicants, who had the largest records of liquor business. He was personally satisfied that these men were doing an illegal business.

Alderman Murphy called attention to the fact that the four thus mentioned were Italian expressmen and that Italians drink beer and ale as we do tea and coffee. It would be poor policy to refuse them the right to get beer.

Alderman Cox inquired if the committee had established a standard of business an expressman might do and received a negative answer.

Alderman Jones stated that Veducio, had been recommended by the chief of police, and Alderman Rice said that a man bringing 70 barrels of ale

MINSTREL SHOW

Grace Church Choir Scores a Great Success at Hunnewell Club

The men and boys of Grace Church choir scored a tremendous success Tuesday evening, when they gave their annual minstrel show at the Hunnewell Club, Newton.

The seating capacity was taxed by the large and enthusiastic audience which assembled in the hall. Two hours of solid enjoyment were afforded by the black-faced entertainers, and they made a decided hit in their various clever features and popular songs.

As the curtain arose upon the opening chorus, presenting the gorgeously arrayed tambors in their red coats and yellow chrysanthemums, and the twenty-two little "coons" who formed the circle in white blouses and big yellow ties, one might think they had been "picked" from a southern plantation, the "make-up" and negro dialect were so good.

The chorus singing under the direction of Mr. Frederick B. Munro, might be termed a real "classy" and showed the excellent training of the choir-master, as well as the natural ability of the singers.

The program included ten numbers presented in a manner which would have done credit to professionals and every number was received with the utmost enthusiasm.

The opening solo by Edward S. Wheeler was finely rendered, and was followed by an end-song, "When Uncle Joe Plays a Rag on His Old Banjo," by Richard E. Clark, 3rd, which was apparently greatly appreciated by the audience.

Irvine E. Plummer who possesses a remarkably fine soprano voice, sang with excellent effect, "The Nightingale and Star."

Mr. Winfield H. Roope added to his already long list of laurels in his singing and dancing, and his rendering of the end-song, "You're a Great Big Blue Eyed Baby," and in the chorus, "Fay" became so very personal in his glances that a young lady in the audience indignantly retired to the back part of the hall, only to return shortly, join him "hands and chorus," and at the close of the song administer a well deserved rebuke.

Mr. Roope was considered the "star" of the evening in the opinion of many, and in his specialty, "Ophelia's Revenge," a representation of a moving picture show, he displayed a wonderful amount of versatility, it being an amusing mixture of comedy, tragedy and sentiment, and he was vociferously applauded.

Mr. Roope also scored a success as a "fake" magician, but it was up to William H. Barber and Frederick T. Burrows to show the audience some real works of magic, and they performed some remarkable "stunts" that were quite mystifying.

Mr. H. Howard Armstrong made a great "hit" in the end-song "That's What Makes a Nigger's Hands White Inside" and was awarded some enthusiastic applause.

"A Peasant's Song," by Henry S. Pinkham, who has a soprano voice of wonderful sweetness and purity of tone, was greatly admired, and William Hanson, the secretary, in the end-song, "I Want a Little Loving Sometimes," proved without a doubt that he is a singer of no ordinary ability.

Clark Hodder sang a pleasing solo in the closing chorus, and the piano accompaniments for the chorus and solo work, by Miss Helen Parker Munro, were admirable, and wholly worthy of the singers.

The badinage between the end-men and the interlocutor was highly amusing, and the jokes were very good, "chestnuts" being conspicuous by their absence, which is quite unusual in a minstrel show.

Mr. Barber, as interlocutor, was exceptionally fine and maintained a dignified bearing throughout the performance, in spite of the numerous indignities to which he was subjected.

The comedians became quite personal in their remarks and some gracious compliments were lavishly handed out, some of which showed plainly the appreciation of the boys for their elders, especially in a "modelling in mud" episode of figure heads, one representing their rector, Dr. MacLure as the finest preacher in the city, to which the interlocutor responded that they considered it the "master-stroke" of Grace Church in securing him from Pittsburgh.

Mr. Sladen was represented as the finest choir-master in the state. Mr. Hamilton, the organist, and Mr. Banks, the humble sexton, came in for a share of the "boquets." The program included Frank M. Barber, interlocutor; Tambors, William Hanson, Richard E. Clark, 3rd, Cyril W. Forbush, Winfield H. Roope, H. Howard Armstrong, James H. Townsend; Circle, Geoffrey A. Baker, William H. Barber, William H. Blandy, Frederic T. Burrows, Richard D. Cazemay, Charles K. Davenport, Theodore W. Edwards, Franklin H. Fairweather, Raymond O. Ford, William A. Hewitt, Clark Hodder, E. Kenneth Peterson, Henry S. Pinkham, Irvine E. Plummer, Bradford E. Story, Malcolm A. Thompson, Herbert A. Trussell, Edward S. Wheeler, Thomas E. Cutler, Albert D. Edwards, William V. M. Fawcett, Walter E. Hollingsworth; Director, Mr. Frederic B. Munro; Pianist, Helen Parker Munro.

LODGES

At the regular meeting of the Garden City Encampment, No. 62, I. O. O. F., held Monday evening in Odd Fellows Hall, Newtonville, the Golden rule degree was conferred upon twenty-four candidates by Manett Encampment of Quincy with a degree team of sixty men and ten-piece orchestra.

Encampments from Milford, South Framingham, Natick, and Waltham had been invited and turned out in large numbers. Deputy Richardson of Waltham, accompanied by his suite, paid fraternal visit.

After the degree had been worked the members of the Encampment retired to the banquet hall, where a luncheon consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice cream, was served.

The committee in charge were Patriarch Dexter MacKenzie, Pastmaster, and Billings. It was a most enjoyable occasion, and participated in by 30 members, who agreed that they had never seen finer work.

Dr. William O. Hume, master of Fraternity Lodge, had the pleasure last Friday night of receiving his own son, Dr. Harold Hunt into membership in the lodge. There was a large attendance to witness this unusual ceremony.

In business today, a man is not criticized because he may not be able to fill a higher position—it is only when he cannot, or does not do his own work that he is open to censure. Incompetence is the most deadly of business sins; for if there is no excuse—we do not pretend to a knowledge of any business but our own. But we know that, know it well enough to give a hard and fast guarantee.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—A great all-star bill of features, all but one new to Boston audiences, is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, headed by Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson in Herbert Hall Winslow's entertaining comedy, "The Right Girl," the most amusing comedy seen in vaudeville in many a day. James and Bonnie Thornton, two of the best known entertainers of the old variety days, will make their first appearance in Boston in years at B. F. Keith's Theatre with a new act, and other splendid features new to Boston audiences will be P. O'Malley Jennings and Edna Dorman, the English Johnny and the American girl; Ray Conlin; the ventriloquist from the west, who has a most unique and original line of material; Manning, Moore and Houke, three lively rathskeller entertainers from the West; Du Callon, the English sailor, who performs the most startling balancing feats on an unsupported ladder; the Two Georges, wonderful comedy acrobats; and several other features, including a new and sensational production, the exact nature of which is kept a secret.

BOSTON THEATRE—Maclyn Arbuckle in Klaw & Erlanger's realistic production of Edmund Day's famous play, "The Round Up," which begins its sixth week at the Boston Theatre on Monday evening, continues its unbroken succession of crowded audiences. The scenes of the play are laid in southern Arizona and the characters and atmosphere of this region are most graphically and faithfully portrayed. The eye looks upon the great distances of arid desert and up the towering gigantic canyons with wonderment that paint and brush, stage mech-

CAPTAIN DANIELS RESIGNS

Captain George H. Daniels of Co. C, Fifth Regiment, M. V. M., of this city, has tendered his resignation to the Adjutant General. Capt. Daniels was chosen captain last January, succeeding Capt. G. F. Guilford, who resigned in June, 1912. Captain Daniels has worked long and earnestly to improve the company and has succeeded in bringing in many new men. He now finds that he is unable to devote further time to military work, as his home is in Dorchester and attendance at the West Newton armory requires late hours, which in justice to his business, he is unable to give.

LETTERS FROM AFRICA

Newton Man Gives Interesting Account of Travels in Little Known Countries

(SECOND LETTER)

Kairouan, Tunisia, Mar. 22, 1913.
Editor, Newton Graphic:—

No one who comes to Tunisia should fail to see Kairouan, and if a week can be spared one may also visit the interesting oases of the Djerdj, two hundred miles farther south.

We left Tunis at two o'clock Wednesday for Sousse, at which place we spent the night at a very comfortable hotel. The trip from Tunis is full of interest; a few miles out we pass through Hammam-el-Lil, where is the palace of the Bey of Tunis, a structure not particularly imposing. For some time you are in sight of the beautiful blue waters of the bay of Tunis, and all the way to Sousse lies through a country of great fertility, with splendid vineyards, big barley fields, and the largest and finest olive orchards I have ever seen. Fifty miles from Tunis we pass through the great estate known as Enfilid, three hundred thousand acres, mostly in olives, vineyards and grain. Many of the fields divided by hedges of that cactus known as the Barbary Fig; this is also cultivated in much of this African coast.

The old Arab quarter is picturesque and interesting, but the Souks are small compared with those of Tunis. Sousse is very old and as Hadrumenut had a long history, first Punic, then Roman. There are immense Christian catacombs, a half-mile or so outside the city walls; here were buried 10,000 Christians mostly in the second and third centuries, many of them martyred; there are one hundred and seventeen galleries already explored. I walked for an hour through these dismal passages, with a guide and powerful light, and found many interesting inscriptions and remarkable remains. One soon loses all sense of direction and distance, and it does get a bit monotonous, as after seventeen or eighteen hundred years all that is left of Christian or pagan looks remarkably like his neighbor.

At noon we start for Kairouan. For miles after we roll through a beautiful flat prairie under a sky bluer than Italy's best, and for great stretches as far as the eye can see on either side golden with yellow daisies or red with wild poppies, and other great fields of barley just beginning to head, and again acres and acres of pink wild sweet peas. But after twenty miles the land looks less fertile, and the barley fields poorer and smaller; the mostly a grazing country, still flat, with occasional camps of nomad Bedouins, always with a few camels and these curious broad-tailed sheep, the only kind of sheep one sees in North Africa, and now all with heavy fleeces ready for shearing.

And all this country which has so far been so green and beautiful will in less than two months be as sere and dry as the desert itself. Most of the grain crops will have been secured and I am told, that owing to the abundant rains the Arabs will gather an unusually good harvest all over Tunisia this year. The country grows more rolling, great fields of cactus, more Bedouins, larger herds of camels and then after thirty-six miles the great fertile plain of Kairouan, with the countless white domes and minarets of the walled city. Kairouan was founded by Sidi Okba in A. D. 671, and is one of the four "Gates of Paradise" of the Mussulmen, the other three being Mecca, the home of Mohammed, Medina, and Djennah Akka at Jerusalem, where the prophet ascended to his heaven on that curious beast which you see pictured wherever the faith of Islam prevails. Head of a beautiful woman, the neck of a camel, the body of a leopard, the wings of an eagle and the legs of an ox.

Kairouan is purely Arab, and I do not suppose there are half a dozen English speaking people to be found within its walls. These walls are thirty-three feet in height, with battlemented top, and two miles in length, enclosing the city in an irregular rectangle.

The great mosque of Sidi Okba in the northern part of the city is one of the oldest and most famous in the world. It covers an area of over two acres, and has a minaret to the top of which one ascends by one hundred and twenty-eight steps, and from which the view of the city and the great plains to which it stands is superb. The great sanctuary of this mosque with its hundreds of marble and porphyry columns, and its beautiful chapel and pulpit is the principal "holy place" of the disciples of Islam in Africa. Seven pilgrimages to this mosque count the same as one pilgrimage to Mecca.

In the centre of the city is the sacred Burial well, surrounded by a great white dome. All good Mussulmen believe that this well is directly connected with the well at Mecca. Outside the city wall and about half a mile to the north is the mosque of the Barbou, where lies buried Sidi-el-Heloni, said to have been Mohammed's friend, and also his barber, and with him were buried several hairs from the beard of the prophet.

One of the most beautiful and interesting of all the mosques, is that with the five white domes where lies buried Sidi Amor Abeda, who was a wonderful worker in iron as well as a very holy man. Here they show you the great sword, covered with Arabic inscriptions, with which they tell you he slew five hundred dogs of Christians in one stroke during their great religious wars. And near this mosque in a court yard to which you easily gain admission, you find what seems to me the most curious and inexplicable thing in all the strange city. Reposing in the middle of his courtyard lie four great iron anchors, and no one in Kairouan can tell you how long they have been there. The inscription cut deeply on the heavy beams inside the doorway tells you in Arabic that these anchors are five hundred thousand years old. I examined them with great care, made some measurements, photographed them, and estimated as nearly as I could the weight. I think the largest one weighs about eight tons, and the four together not less than twenty-five tons. They are perfectly formed and would be as fit for service today as the day they were made. Who made them, and how they came here in that courtyard forty-four miles from the sea without roads and with no means of transportation other than the backs of camels is a puzzling problem. It is very certain they never were made in or near Kairouan. But the Arabs are ready with an answer and it is a lovely story. They say that these are the four anchors of Noah's Ark. Good old Sidi Amor Abeda knew how to wander in most centuries ago, and was spread over the Barbary States, but has, I understand, never grown greatly in numbers. I know that at Sfax and in several other places in Tunisia you can see the same rites. But as for me, one experience of this kind will last me for a lifetime.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The regular monthly meeting of the Staff of the Newton Free Library was held on Friday, April 18. The occasion was of unusual interest as Miss J. M.
Campbell was present to speak on the subject of "Library Work with Foreigners." By invitation, about twenty-five of the neighboring libraries were represented by either the Librarian or an Assistant, and some members of the State Library Commission were also invited to share the opportunity and pleasure.

Miss Campbell was formerly in charge of a library in Passaic, N. J.
This library was located in the heart of a thickly settled district inhabited by factory workers, mostly foreigners.
She made the acquaintance of the people through their churches and societies, and from their own suggestions built up the collection of foreign books.
These people became enthusiastic patrons of the library, each nationality taking pride in its own collection of books, and seeking to outshine the others. Through translations of the books they knew, many came to a knowledge of English. Through her friendly relations with the working people, Miss Campbell was able to help them through many difficulties, notably in the case of a recent strike of women operatives. The employers and the foreign workers were unable to come to terms because of a lack of understanding of the grievance.
Through their trust in her, she was able to discover the heart of the trouble which was soon peacefully settled.

Miss Campbell invited questions from her audience, and an interesting discussion followed.
During the meeting, Mr. Howes, President of our Board of Trustees and also a member of the Massachusetts State Library Commission, told of the possibilities for some such work in Newton. Miss Williams of the Library Staff read a report on conditions in Nonantum, where we have foreigners of different nationalities.
Through the courtesy of the Trustees of the Newton Library, and by reason of the enlarged and improved library building, the Staff was able to entertain the visitors at luncheon.
Thirty-five were present.

THE MOTHERS' REST

At Needham Heights is a delightful home which welcomes each summer from the middle of June to the last of September 300 or more mothers and little children who so eagerly welcome the change from the crowded city streets to these refreshing and wholesome surroundings.

They are asked for a two weeks' free outing, and return to their homes much benefitted in health and spirits.

This splendid work was organized in 1900, and was restricted to women in Newton Centre, but much interest having been expressed by those in other Newton towns are now invited to join the Association as its active members, according to the following amended article.

"Any woman in Newton, who shall contribute during a single year, before the October meeting, not less than the sum of Two Dollars ($2.00) or its equivalent, may be a member of this Association and qualified to vote at the annual meeting. As a means to this end 1000 circular letters will be sent throughout the various Newton towns the coming week and we hope for many new members, to help in this work.
Checks may be sent to Mrs. F. S. Ris-teen, 9 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre, made payable to the Mothers' Rest Association."

Two months ago, in discussing the sixth class liquor problem, I came to a reluctant conclusion, that such licensees ought to be refused this year, in order to keep the question out of our city politics. Further consideration, however, convinces me, that this burning question will be a factor next fall, whether such licensees are granted or refused, and it therefore comes down to the merits of the question itself.

We have this problem at this time principally because we have drugstores in this city who regard their license to sell liquor for medicinal, mechanical and chemical purposes, as imposing no burden on them, and who have sold liquor to practically every applicant. This practice, while recognized by preceding boards of aldermen as existing, has never received the drastic action necessary to impress the drugstore that more careful action was needed on their part, and as a consequence, now appears to be the rule of the city.

Into this situation, last year, several worthy gentlemen in church and social circles, and they have aroused considerable public sentiment, most of which is based on misunderstood facts, or on figures which have been somewhat misleading. Their facts and figures, however, have not been publicly denied by persons who know that the liquor question in Newton is handled in a most efficient manner, principally because such persons do not desire to even appear to side with what would naturally be termed the "rum crowd," which is also, in this case, a most misleading appellation. I, myself, do not wish to be classed with the "rummies," for I despise the use of liquor in every form and have had enough sad experiences with persons addicted to the habit to be forever, its foe. At the same time, I am convinced that the Newton has handled this matter in the proper way in the past, and that it should not be abandoned without the strongest of reasons and almost absolute proof that the change will improve existing conditions. I have had perhaps, a better opportunity to know conditions in this city, than many of the advocates of the change, who simply sleep here. For I have been engaged in business within the city for over 25 years and am about its streets and in its stores at all hours of the day. I can say without fear of successful contradiction that there is less drunkenness about the city today than there has ever been during the past generation. Police records show that arrests for this cause in 1912 were 402 as compared with 512 in 1896 with far less population, and there is far less use of police raids on kitchen barrooms than in previous years. I attribute this to the excellent work of teaching temperance in our public schools, in my opinion, the only correct method to combat this curse of modern society. Complete prohibition, and efforts in that direction, have always proved unsuccessful, as witness the plight of Maine, where the liquor laws are absolutely flouted in certain communities, and I greatly fear that many residents of Newton will quietly resent the present attempt to legislate against this evil.

One set of figures stated by the advocate of a change in policy, I should like to analyze,—that 75,000 sales in a year indicate that our drug stores are barrooms. Reducing this number of sales, to each drug store, per minute during the working days of the year, shows that this figure means an average of one sale in each drug store in the city during each hour and twenty-eight minutes.

In my opinion, the aldermen have made a mistake in refusing to grant these licenses, and that the only proper method of handling this situation would be to refuse to grant licenses to certain drugstores, and to exercise a strict control over all licenses which are granted.

No one, however, will be more pleased than myself, if the experiment which has just been inaugurated, proves the success its advocates predict, for as Rev. Dr. Noyes stated at the hearing, we are all working for the same ends, and differ only in methods.

I have been facetiously reminded several times this week of my failure to comment, last Friday, on the recent Congressional election in this district. The fact is, that I had an editorial in type, but the large amount of advertising received last week, compelled me to leave it out of the paper, and I am frank enough to admit that I was more interested in the advertising than in the election.

I have seen many comments on the election, some accepting the result as favorable to the pending Democratic tariff bill, some, that it was the practice of the third party, and some that it was intended as a rebuke to Republican party management. From personal work in getting out the vote, it is my impression that none of these reasons is wholly correct, altho all may have had some impression on the voters. I found that in Newton, at least three out of every seven Republicans refused to vote, while one out of ten Republicans who did go to the polls, voted for Mr. Mitchell. It is my opinion that the men who did not vote, believed that one Republican more or less, would cut little figure in a Democratic house at Washington, and that the Democratic party should have a free hand to enact such legislation as it desires. That the Republicans who voted for Mr. Mitchell did so for two reasons, one, as above stated, and the other that they felt that Mr. White might otherwise be elected. I do not find, nor believe that the voters of this district, intended to pass upon the merits or demerits of the pending tariff measure, as I am of the opinion that the average voter doesn't give a hurrh for any tariff bill, until it strikes his own pocketbook in some way. Mr. Mitchell was elected, in my opinion chiefly thru the indifference of the rank and file of the Republican party.

I cannot allow the opportunity to pass to express my sympathy to Mr. Cutting, personally, in his defeat. Mr. Cutting fully deserved the honor which he sought, and would have creditably represented this district at Washington. He made a splendid campaign and deserved better treatment at the hands of the Republicans of the district.

One of the satisfactory incidents of the recent Congressional campaign was the elimination of the "only Republican newspaper in Newton."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

One of the most important bills of the session was introduced on Monday from the Municipal Finance committee and if it passes will make radical changes in the methods of running the city of Newton. The bill is an attempt to prevent certain municipalities from exceeding the fixed limit of $12 per thousand for city expenses, but the committee has attempted to regulate about every other financial phase of municipal life. The bill requires the annual budget to be made up within 60 days after the inauguration of the city government, prohibits the city council from increasing amounts named by the mayor or adding new items, and makes many new regulations in regard to the issuing of bonds and the character of debts within and without the debt limit. There are many glaring inconsistencies in this respect. Water debt is placed outside the limit, while sewer debt, is inside. Just why, no one rises to explain, altho it may be due to the fact that clean water ought to be without limit of any kind, while sewerage, and sewer extensions can be bonded for 30 years while water main extensions are to be paid in five years. It is also interesting to note that debts for park purposes are inside the debt limit, while that for playgrounds is outside. The committee ought to have another session on a bill of this nature and which so vitally affects every municipality in the state.

Representative White of this city is the sole dissenter from a bill to reimburse Mr. Clinton H. Scovell, also of this city, for work done as one of the experts employed by Governor Foss in his first year of service. The bill which is favorably reported will give Mr. Scovell $1096.

SCHOLARSHIP BENEFIT

Tuesday, April 22, Mrs. Robert Gorton opened her beautiful home on Berkeley street, West Newton, for a whist, the proceeds of which went to the Electa Walton Memorial Scholarship Fund. Notwithstanding the short notice of three days, a very substantial sum was realized. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Blake of Brookline, Mrs. Charles L. Anderson of West Newton, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle of Newton and Miss Cheaney of West Newton. Prior to the whist Mrs. Gorton entertained at luncheon the hostesses who assisted her. Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle and Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield.

TURNBULL-TOOLE

The wedding of Miss Josephine Wendell Toole, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Toole of Newton Highlands and Mr. Charles A. Turnbull of Columbus street, Newton Highlands, took place last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride on Allerton road. The ceremony, which was witnessed by members of both families was performed by Rev. Albert N. Slayton, rector of St. Paul's church. Miss Dorothy Turnbull of Newton Highlands was maid of honor and Mr. Arthur Davis of Boston was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony until 7:30 p. m. when Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull left on a wedding trip which will include Washington, D. C. and Palm Beach. On their return they will make their home in Newtonville.

N. H. S.

The Senior Class of the Newton Technical High School will give their annual play, "A Scrap of Paper," to-night and tomorrow night at 4:45 p. m. in the school hall. Dancing will be enjoyed in the drill hall after the performance.

For the last two years the Senior Classes have given plays which have been very successful in every way. The class of 1913 is striving to make their play the best ever given.

Those taking part are as follows: Mae White, Hugh Boyd, May Stuart, Martha Kline, Helen Harrington, Charlotte Taylor, Mary Hargwood, John Guthrie, J. Francis Barry, Howard Fanning, Arthur Quilty, Joseph Shea, John Berquist, business manager; Deutsche, Cornick, Garrison, assistants; coach, Miss Wetherbee, a member of the Faculty.

Much interest is shown in the play and in its outcome, because only a few nights ago Melrose High School gave this same play and the Newton boys and girls are anxious to show what they can do.

NEWTON WINS TWO

Boston Latin and Quincy High Defeated by Local High School Nine

Newton High School nine won two victories during the past week, defeating Boston Latin on Saturday in a close game, 4 to 3, and blanked Quincy High Wednesday, 7 to 0. The holiday game developed into a pitcher's battle between Capt. Robert Spaulding of Newton and William Boles of the visitors, and matters were about even. Both men fanned 12, but the support behind each was not of the highest order.

The game was marked by heavy hitting of both sides. "Tip" O'Neill connecting for two singles and a double, and he also proved a whirlwind on the bases, while McGinn contributed the heavy stick work for the visitors. The visitors held the lead until the ninth inning, when the third hit registered by O'Neill was followed by a double to deep left by De Rucha, which sent O'Neill across with the tying run.

In the first half of the tenth, Boston Latin was retired in order. Conlon, who batted in place of Terrio who was passed, and Ralph Hyatt followed with a single, sending Conlon to third. Wellman's hard hit grounder was fumbled by Reardon, and before he could recover the ball, Conlon had scored with the winning run.

In the game with Quincy, Conlon, the Newton sub pitcher did the slab work, and held the visitors to one hit, that being made in the fifth by Andrews, between short and second. The Newton team was unable to hit the ball, they being held to four hits by the opposing pitcher. The seven errors behind the Quincy team in nearly every case resulted in one or more runs. Both pitchers were wild at times, but the support given the Newton pitcher got him out of many holes. Conlon struck out 10 of the opposing batters and issued 3 free passes.

O'Neill also showed up brilliantly in the game, as he scored 3 of Newton's runs, stole two bases, and made a spectacular catch in the first inning of a hard hit liner from Donnelly's bat. Bryson also contributed several good stops.

De Rucha, the sub catcher, was placed in center field in place of Terrio, who is not hitting the ball hard enough and Capt. Robert Spaulding was stationed in the right field berth. Tomorrow afternoon on Clafin Field, the local team will have for its opponents the Watertown High School nine, which although much younger than the local team have played good ball so far this season. A large crowd will be out to watch Johnson, the one-arm fielder on the Watertown team perform.

ARCHERY TOURNAMENT

In spite of the threatening weather and high wind twenty-four archers gathered at the Archery Range on the Newton Centre playground on Saturday, April 19 to participate in the Archery Tournament held by "The Newton Archers" as the local archery club is called. The extremely high wind made good scoring impossible but did not detract from the pleasure the archers experienced in getting together again. The Newton Archers is unique in that it has among its membership several youthful archers under 15 years of age who are making rapid progress and in the interest of these younger members, two special rounds were arranged for at some of the shorter ranges, one called a Junior Team Round consisting of 96 arrows at 30 yards, and another called the Special Juvenile Round consisting of 24 arrows at 40 yards, 30 yards and 25 yards respectively.

In the men shot the American Round, consisting of 30 arrows at 60 yds, 50 yds, and 40 yds respectively, the ladies shot the Columbia Round consisting of 24 arrows at 50 yds, 40 yds and 30 yds respectively and the children shot the Junior Team Round. In the afternoon the men shot the Team Round consisting of 96 arrows at 60 yards, the ladies shot the National Round consisting of 48 arrows at 60 yards and 24 arrows at 50 yards, while the children shot the Special Juvenile Round.

Several of the archers did not finish the rounds and so did not turn in their scores, but those who did finish turned in the following scores:

American Round—S. W. Wilder, 73—376; B. P. Gray, 77—354; V. C. Lovejoy, 86—306; L. C. Smith, 66—306; C. T. Switzer, 65—293; Ellis Spear, 64—292.

Team Round—G. P. Bryant, 77—351; B. P. Gray, 70—294; S. W. Wilder, 61—243; C. T. Switzer, 60—232; Ellis Spear, 53—229; L. C. Smith, 61—195.

Columbia Round—Mrs. L. C. Smith, 63—319; Mrs. B. P. Gray, 56—294; Miss N. Pierce, 60—262; Miss R. Brewer, 20—70.

National Round—Mrs. B. P. Gray, 46—170; Mrs. L. C. Smith, 44—164; Miss N. Pierce, 37—129.

$2000 FIRE

The residence of Mr. William F. Plant at 83 Cotton street, Newton was damaged to the extent of $2000 by fire shortly before midnight Friday and had it not been for the prompt arrival of the fire apparatus which was called on two alarms, the entire house would have been destroyed. The blaze originated in the basement and when discovered had burnt up through the elevator shaft to the top floor.

Two maids, Miss Inga Johnson and Miss Mary Anderson and the chauffeur, Irving Cole, who were in the house at the time, tried to fight the blaze with buckets of water and fire extinguishers but the blaze had gained such headway that they were forced to summons aid. The maid notified the telephone operator in the Newton North Exchange, who in turn notified the Fire Headquarters and an alarm was rung in from box 83, closely followed by the second.

Mr. and Mrs. Plant were in Washington and the maids notified their daughter, Mrs. Edward D. Van Tassel of Winchester. Miss Johnson discovered the blaze just before retiring, which started between the two furnaces, evidently caused by spontaneous combustion in a pile of rubbish. The flames followed the elevator well to the third floor and ate through the floor on the first floor and also between the second and third floors. The costly and beautiful furnishings in the house were not touched by the flames.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

In these days of poorly paying investments it is most cheering to find one which never fails to yield its full dividend each year—a dividend, not of dollars and cents, but of rosy cheeks and bright eyes, replacing pale, wan countenances, of courage and strength in the room of despondency and listlessness. Such an investment is the Newton Vacation Week, which begins this summer its 23rd year of work. The record of each year has been presented at its close, and that of 1912 is now due. The whole amount received was $478.87, of which $110 was given for special cases, and so applied. Of the remaining $368, the sum of $361 has been expended, affording summer rest and recreation to members of forty different families. In all, one hundred and thirty-three people, mostly working women and girls, or widows with families of small children, enjoyed either day excursions, electric rides, or vacations of a week or more; some who had relatives whom they could visit, required only their travelling expenses; others were boarded either in the country or at sea shore at low rates.

Grateful recognition is due to Good Cheer Camp at Woburn, to Llewac Lodge at Bedford, to Fernside at Princeton, to Boston Lake Shore Institute and the Y. M. C. A. Camp, both at Sharon, for their courtesy in entertaining parties whenever application was made to them, especially if a check accompanied the application.

The reports received from both hosts and guests, at all the places were very satisfactory, and emphatically characteristic. A girl who spent a week at Good Cheer Camp wrote, "Everything is up to date here, and the matron racks her brain in her efforts to give us a jolly time." "Had a bully time at Sharon," was the report of a working Y. M. C. A. boy, "plenty to eat, all of it good, and lots of fun every evening." A mother, with her three little children whose week at Sharon Institute was their first vacation, since her unfortunate marriage ten years ago, said: "We have had such a good time! The children have grown fat, and I have learned many things, that will help me to be a better mother."

Equally high praises came from Llewac Lodge and Princeton, both of which places are too well known to need our endorsement. The Old Ladies at the Home, and the Pomroy Children, enjoyed their annual outings, the children as usual unanimously voting for a day at Revere, which was supplemented by an afternoon at Norumbega, where also the Home Department spent a delightful day. Surely, the money spent for these entertainments yielded its full dividend of happiness.

Two worn-out women, without work and with scant means, were sent "Down East" to visit friends. A mother with two sickly children went to Taunton, where she paid low board. Sallisbury Beach, Friendship, Me., Dunstable, Nantasket, Yarmouth, and Needham Heights, all received guests from the Vacation Fund, so that the money there invested has had a wide circulation, while in the case of half a dozen elderly people, too feeble for distant journeys, rest and comfort was provided in their own homes. Six family picnics were enjoyed; two to City Point, and as many to Revere, and Norumbega. Seven grown-ups and thirty-four children enjoyed one golden day—the fruit of your gifts.

The indirect work of the Vacation Week, though most quietly done, is no less effective in its results. The lady who invited a homeless seamstress to her summer home for a week, the Sunday School Teacher who took various excursions with the stay-at-homes of her class, and that courageous woman who entertained her whole class at her summer home, not only gave great pleasure to their guests, but came into personal touch with their lives. Taking excursions by proxy, as we grow older, is an excellent plan. The work of 1912 closed April 1st with a very small balance in the treasury. Already applications for the coming summer are in the hands of the committee, but $200 is needed to begin the work satisfactorily. Any one who would like to invest sums, small or large, in the stock of the Vacation Fund, is cordially invited to apply to any of the committee:—Mrs. A. B. Bassett, Mrs. Geo. Agry, Miss Emma Walker, Miss Margaret Wilder, Miss Mary Childs and Miss Elizabeth Spear.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 10, 1911. The Blair Manufacturing Co., Newark, Ohio.

Gentlemen: About October 1st, 1911, we purchased a two and one-half ton truck of the Blair Manufacturing Co., and up to the present writing have never regretted it. We have found the truck equal to all that was claimed for it and are more than pleased with the worm drive proposition, as all who have had experience with trucks realize that the chains are a noisy and dirty proposition.

Before purchasing said truck we had given the subject quite a thorough investigation. The point that appealed to us most strongly in the Blair Truck was the fact that it has more load capacity in front of the rear wheel than any truck we found on the market. Another strong point in our judgment, is the fact that it has two frames, that the work housing has its own individual frame. A recent experience of ours proved this to be, in our judgment, the proper way to construct a truck.

The Blair Manufacturing Co. also have a way of living up to their word that cannot help but appeal to anyone who is in the market for a truck. Your truck PRODUCE DISTRIBUTORS CO. Per F. H. Tillson.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Within a few weeks the Massachusetts State Federation will send out to the clubs a blank for information from which to compile the annual. The Club Editor asks the Newton clubs to set a good example to the clubs in other parts of the state by returning their blanks without delay and filed out in such a manner that there can be no mistake in reading them. At the President Conference the Federation president requested that in so far as possible the names be filled in on the typewriter. It is very easy to misread a name, for there is nothing to give the club, and it is very maddening to find one's name wrong. Another very trying thing for those who are compiling the Manual is the failure on the part of a club to respond. It has sometimes been necessary to communicate with a club as many as four or even five times before receiving any response. May the Newton clubs have a thought in this matter and thereby assist those who are doing the work. The value of the Manual depends upon its accuracy and its accuracy depends in a large measure upon the officers who are sending the information.

NEWTON FEDERATION

The Newton Federation will hold its annual meeting at the Technical High School, Newtonville, on Tuesday, May 6, at 10.30 A. M. The morning session will be given up as usual to the business of the annual meeting, reports of committees of the presidents of the clubs, and the election of officers. Luncheon will be served at 1.30, tickets for which may be obtained from the presidents of the clubs. The afternoon program will be in charge of the Newtonville Woman's Guild.

Local Announcements

The annual meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will be held on April 28 at the home of Mrs. D. W. Eagles, 144 Clark street, Newton Centre.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Marion Morse of Allerton road on Monday afternoon, April 28.

The Social Science Club will hold its meeting on Wednesday morning, April 30.

Local Happenings

On Monday afternoon the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. A. F. Hayward. The work was in charge of Mrs. Robert Clark. Browning's "Death in the Desert" was read and discussed and many opinions of the critics were presented. This meeting completed the club's study for the year.

At the last meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Barker on Duncklee street, on April 1, Mr. George A. Sweetser spoke on "The Legal Status of Women." He told of the various laws in Massachusetts that have benefited women. In 1841 Massachusetts changed her laws so that women could legally dispose of property. Since that time many laws have been passed protecting women and children.

Mrs. Anna Sturgess Duryea gave a very interesting lecture last Monday afternoon before the Waban Woman's Club in the Union Church vestry on "Anticipating the Third Hague Conference." She said that the Hague conference are paving the way to universal peace, and are developing methods of settling international questions by law rather than by war. She spoke of the more humane methods of warfare now used, of the neighborliness of all nations and of the fact that at the last Hague Conference all the world was literally together in one room. She also mentioned the influence that our representative will have at the Third Conference in 1915, because of the $10,000,000 given by Mr. Carnegie for this peace movement.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Auburndale Review Club was held at the Brae Burn Club on Tuesday, April 22, Mrs. Knowlton presiding, forty members and guests being present. The annual report of president, treasurer and secretary were read and the following officers elected:

President, Mrs. William A. Knowlton; vice-president, Mrs. Amos R. Wells; secretary, Mrs. Joseph N. Draper; treasurer, Mrs. William Fuller; executive committee, Mrs. Guy M. Winslow, Mrs. Samuel W. Dike, and Miss H. Louise Peloubet.

The program next year is to include a study of the historical plays of Shakespeare, lectures, musicals, and some of the vital topics of the day will be discussed.

After the business meeting luncheon was served in the sun-parlor. The tables were prettily decorated, the flowers being sent after the luncheon to some of the members who are ill. The occasion was a delightful festivity, closing a year in which much hard work has been done by the members with a consequent result of enlarged interest and value in the program and enterprises of the year.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club had a most interesting lecture on "The Child Worker of the Street" by Mr. Leon Daddum. Mr. Daddum devoted his attention to the newboys of Boston, illustrating his talk with lantern slides of the work of the Newboys' Club. He spoke of the high degree of honesty existing among these boys and showed how much superior these Boston boys are to those in New York and other cities. The different street corners are pointed out among the boys and for some states they pay as much as $800 for the privilege of holding them. The lecture was full of interest and was much enjoyed by those present.

The members of the Pierian Club had a delightful afternoon with Mrs. Gailson of Everett on Wednesday. Mrs. Hemphill personally conducted the members on an excursion, visiting the cities of Dublin, Cork and Belfast. Her descriptions were full of interest and enlivened at many points with witticisms. Not a little of the pleasure of the day was in the journey together and the luncheon en route.

A meeting was held on Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. George H. Wilkins of the dentists of the city who have volunteered their services for the Dental Clinic and representatives from the Newton Federation. A purchasing committee of three was appointed to obtain the necessary outfit, which will be paid for by the Newton Federation. The school authorities have granted the use of two rooms in the Claflin School on Washington Park. Mr. W. R. Forbush, public buildings commissioner, has had the rooms thoroughly renovated and water introduced. The Social Service committee of the Federation has met with every sort of co-operation on the part of the school and city authorities. It is hoped that the Clinic may be open before May first. Another meeting will be held shortly at the rooms to consider the methods to be employed. The school superintendent and the school nurses are the ones to decide which children shall be eligible to the services of the clinic. A member of the Social Service committee will be present at each clinic. They will be held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and on a part of Saturday. The following dentists have promised their services, and strangely enough there has been more interest shown by those who are residents of Newton, but do not practice here than upon the part of those who have offices in Newton: Dr. Wm. C. Leach, Dr. F. MacCabe, from Newton Highlands; Dr. Kent, C. A. Thompson, F. H. Marshall, from Newtonville; J. H. Bean, J. J. Coxeter, J. S. Coxeter, H. W. Shedd, S. F. Chase; from Auburndale, E. U. Ufford, J. A. Furbush; from Newton, F. J. Costello.

The next meeting of the Home Circle will be held Thursday, May 1st, at 2 P. M. in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville. Two most important matters to be discussed and decided, 25th anniversary and bazaar. Every member is urged to be present. Her help is needed.

NEWTON CLUB

PARISH PARTY

Bray Hall, Newton Centre, was the scene of a brilliant gathering on Friday evening, the occasion being the annual reunion and whist party of the Church of the Sacred Heart. The result was very gratifying to the pastor, Rev. Daniel C. Riordan and his assistant, Rev. James F. Haney.

Whist was played during the early evening by 150 couples, the winners being Mrs. Ann Tierney, Miss Gahan, Mrs. Nichols, Miss Moore, Miss Mills and Mrs. Mosher of the ladies' prizes, and Michael Regan, Joseph M. Maloney, Patrick McKenna, Edward Paton, M. Duffee and M. Bozan. Following the whist a step dancing contest was enjoyed by a large number, the winners being Michael Fay, Daniel Houllihan, Mrs. McHugh and Miss Burke.

The booths arranged about the hall reported a large sale during the evening, and the winners of the chance books were as follows: Miss Eleanor Murphy, chair; Mrs. Katherine Barry, candy; Samuel Simpkins, basket of flowers; Edward Linnahan, cake and Mrs. Robert Levi, picture. The dancing proved very popular in the larger hall throughout the evening.

THE IMELDA CLUB DANCE

Members of the Imelda Club gave a very successful dancing party on Monday evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville.

The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion with yellow and purple streamers and in the centre a large yellow rose was suspended. There was a well arranged order of 16 dances with two extras, a "favor dance" and the "Imelda dance." During the latter the hall was darkened and the dancers, carrying sparklers made a very pretty and effective scene.

King's full orchestra was in attendance and rendered an excellent program of popular music. There were about one hundred present.

The floor director was Dr. George F. Fair, and the aids were John J. Quinlan, Thomas H. Burns, Clifford S. White, Thomas E. Hanron, Edmund R. Boucher, and Charles P. York. The matrons were Mrs. John T. Burns, Mrs. C. C. Tyrrell, Mrs. C. E. Hodges and Mrs. J. A. Farrell. The officers of the club of which Miss Mary A. Burns is president, include the Misses Alice C. Stillman, Mary G. Cannon, Helen C. Leonard, Marguerite E. Hodges, Margaret McDonough, Mary A. Farrell, Barbara M. Stillman, Mary M. Hanron and Alice M. Frazier.

EDMONDS-PROCTOR

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Proctor, 210 Babcock street, Brookline, their daughter Alice was married Monday evening to Mr. Bradford C. Edmonds of Newton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. P. Tuller, pastor of the Brighton Avenue Baptist Church, Allston.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her three sisters, Miss Lois, as maid of honor, and the Misses Viola and Melba as bridesmaids. F. A. Edmonds of Wellesley Hills, a brother of the groom was best man. The ushers were C. Faulkner Kendall and Robert M. Clark of Newton, and Joseph H. Proctor, a brother of the bride.

After spending a month on a wedding tour, the couple will take up their residence at Brookline.

LECTURES FOR WOMEN

Miss Theodore Chase will deliver a course of lectures to women of all ages on the care of themselves and their children. These lectures will be held at 24 Lincoln street, suite 2, Newton Highlands, every Saturday in May at 3.30 P. M. All persons holding tickets unused last year, are entitled to attend free. Course ticket, $1.00; single ticket, 25 cents, obtained at door or by applying to Miss Chase at above address. Tel. South 961-M. Adv.

REVERSE POLICY OF GENERATION

a week into Nonantum was not a fit man to do an express business.

Alderman Murphy said that this business was done strictly under the law or the liquor officer would obtain a conviction. He had known of Italians who would get rid of an 8-gallon keg a week and never wink an eyelash.

Alderman Jones also stated that the business was being done under the law.

Alderman Blanchard said that the committee felt that public opinion was not yet pronounced on this matter and data was not sufficient to warrant refusal at this time.

Alderman Forknall, who said he would vote against all liquor permits suggested that the board ought to be consistent in the matter and not discriminate against these men.

Permits were then granted by a vote of 17 to 3. Aldermen Cox, Forknall and Sullivan, to D. P. Lynch, J. S. Roberts & Son, M. J. Feeney, Johnson & Keyes Co., Taft & Mitchell Co., S. J. McNelly, Jos. P. Burke, W. C. Harrington, E. I. Lindsey, Adams Express Co., C. G. Newcomb, American Express Co., D. F. Warren, and the Interurban Express Co. The vote was 16 to 4 on Simon Morrell, Alderman Jamieson voting No with the others, 16 to 3 with President Blakemore excused on M. J. Mulcahy, and 14 to 6, Alderman Cox, Forknall, Jamieson, Rice, Sullivan and Winslow, on Nicholas Veducolo, F. E. Carvelli, Giacomo DeLuco, and F. Gasbarri.

The board then took a short recess, and upon reassembling, took up the matter of junk licenses. Alderman Blanchard said that 16 of the junk men of last year lived in his ward. He had had their places visited by the board of health in response to protests received by him, and he believed that the board should refuse to grant licenses to three of the petitioners in order to make them take more interest in keeping their places in better condition.

These licenses were then granted, Hyman Shelman, J. J. Delaney, Morris Gilfix, Harry Yanco, Morris Greenwald, Max Silverman, David Bronfman, Abram Sherler, Max Canter, Jacob Melman, Benjamin Gilfix, Joseph Hoffman, L. Grishpood, and Max Melman.

Leave to withdraw was then granted on these petitions: Junk, J. J. Miskella, Joe Roiter, P. Shriberg and Jacob Kligman; Common Victualers, C. L. Torre, Manlowicz Bros. and Parilvidis & George Cox, and Liquor transportation permits, W. R. Burns, H. M. Leacy, Wm. Bailey, John Muse, A. S. Selya, Horatio Butts, C. H. McIntosh and Domenico Guzzi.

On recommendation of committees, the Telephone Co. was granted attachments on Washington street, Summer street, California street, Washburn avenue, the Edison Co., attachments on Bowen street, Richard Capstick was granted a license as a weigher of coal.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

together and determine which one of those druggists that are fit to administer this law should have this license, having regard only to the location most central for the acceptance of this privilege by our citizens.

I feel certain that I can name at least four druggists in Newton who have so administered this law in the past both by themselves and through their clerks, in such a way as to satisfy me that they are fit persons to exercise such a license.

Logically it ought to follow that I would be willing to grant four licenses. At the risk of being illogical and also at the risk of not fairly voting the spirit of law, I intend to follow the letter of the law and vote for only one such license in the city of Newton, because I believe it to be my sworn duty to obey the laws that I am called upon to administer as a member of the board of aldermen.

My reasons for voting with the majority of this committee against the general feeling of the 6th class license are:

First. It is the feeling of these people who have given it serious thought (and they are very numerous) in the community, that the privilege given the citizens by this law has been abused by the citizens and that abuse encouraged by some of the druggists. When it becomes the sentiment of the community that such a privilege has been abused then that privilege for the best interests of the abusers of the privilege themselves, and of the community as a whole, should be taken away.

Second. From medical testimony it appears that emergency cases for the use of liquor are rare. In such rare cases the hardship of paying a doctor for a prescription is light and in such rare cases the call of a doctor is usual and the expenses of the prescription would not thereby increase his fee. Where an emergency for liquor as a medicine is not present, Newton is situated so near to a licensed community, that most of us, at the expenditure of a few cents, can obtain the liquor from Boston without in any way jeopardizing the health of the person needing the liquor. In other words, the necessity for this privilege is practically absent.

Third. I believe the abolition of this 6th class license will increase the number of illegal sales of liquor in Newton, but I believe that the efficiency of our police force is such that these illegal sales will not become general, but will be very difficult to make and that liquor will only be bought illegally and sold illegally by those over whom the law has its greatest difficulty in exercising control. In other words, sales to persons readily tempted by the ease of purchase, will be few and far between.

Fourth. That the taking away of the 6th class license privilege will not harm the law abiding spirit or the present high plane of citizenship and right living now and for years past existing in our city, but on the other hand may tend to benefit it.

This committee has given two hearings on this question with practically no public-spirited citizens present to advocate the continuance of the 6th class license and the experience of the board itself, in its one public hearing, was the same.

The committee individually has given this question a great deal of time, thought and personal investigation and feel amply justified in the action that they are taking. If there is public necessity for the general continuance of the privilege extended by the legislature by this act, citizens who may criticize the action of this committee, must blame themselves for not presenting their side of the question to the committee or the board.

I am not in favor of submitting this question to the voters of the city believing that the present action of the committee should be the policy of the city in the future, unless the necessity for the general granting of these licenses can be shown to any future board of aldermen. Neither am I in favor of submitting the question of the issuing of the "pony express license" so called, to the voters at this time.

If a public sentiment against such licenses is aroused, I trust the question will be submitted to the voters for their decision, rather than for the decision of the licensing board. I do not believe any such sentiment now exists and all that is necessary is proper supervision by the police and by this licensing board.

I have reason to believe that the druggists of Newton as a class are honorable and law abiding citizens, in so far as they have been placed by the effect of this law in a most difficult position.

The evidence of our chief of police and the records of our court do not indicate that drunkenness has increased as a result of the issuing of these 6th class licenses. The fact that nearly all those that appeared in opposition to the issuing of the 6th class licenses did not know, up to a year ago, of the sale of liquor under these illustrations, will be few and far between.

TO BE JUST A PAINTER
is no great ambition; but to combine an expert painter's ability with modern equipment and a knowledge that enables us to offer you a service worthy of any one's effort is our ambition. We are persistent in asking you for your painting and decorating because we believe we can give you the service you require. If we can induce you to try us, we shall have another good customer, and you will have a good painter.

New Spring Suits for Men, Young Men and Boys

You haven't heard us say that we were ready until now about Spring 1913 Suits. You probably know that the tailors' strike lasted from 12 to 15 weeks and that made late deliveries for us. Six weeks ago we had some Spring Suits in, a month ago we were half ready for our Spring Offering, two weeks ago we were three quarters ready, to-day we're ALL READY with the best Spring Clothing ever shown in a city the size of Waltham. People from the Newtons, Wellesley, Natick and surrounding towns will find the Clifford S. Cobb Co. a safe and convenient place to shop in. Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Stein-Bloch Suits at $16.50 and up. We show a great line of Children's Suits, sizes from 3 to 17 yrs. $4.00 to $12.00.
